DEDICATION

Man of distinction on campus, faithful pipe never out of sight, Shannon McCune has probably done more in the past five years than any other one person to shape our academic destiny. His ready willingness to listen and to make himself available to all on campus with problems, both students and faculty, his thoughtful solutions, his steadiness and sense of humor in trying situations, his sensible views of what a good university should be—all have endeared him to those who have had the privilege of knowing our Provost. We can only view with pride his leaving us for greater service in UNESCO and wish him godspeed. He will be missed.

President of the Senate, Dennis Twohig, opens gift from the student body to Dr. Shannon McCune while Dr. and Mrs. McCune look on.

REGISTRATION

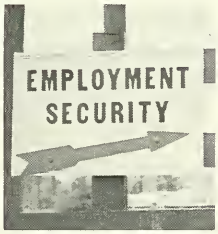

Water-logged students were the main subject of registration day, September 12, as a wet hurricane gave us a blue Monday. The largest registration yet—over 5200 students ran between the Women's Physical Education Building and the Student Union. This tremendous job of preparing the students for a new semester went smoothly however, guided by the efficient handling of the multitude of IBM cards by the faculty directors.

There are those who just can't decide . . .

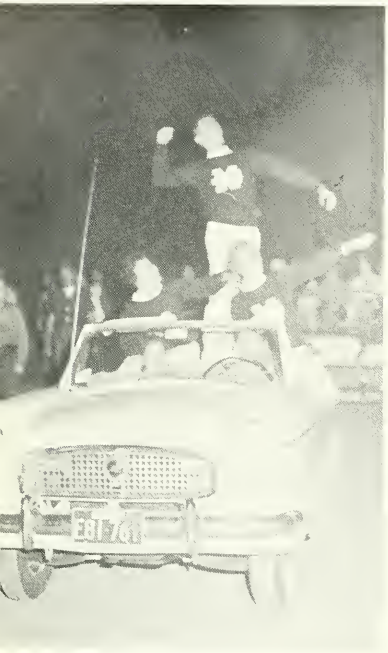

There are always those with troubles, too.

. . . and those who have it all figured out.

The parade through town truly showed the enthusiasm we had before a game.

RALLIES

Our pre-game parades and rallies held at the Student Union this year were more enthusiastic than ever. The spark has been the rejuvenation of our football team with its new head coach, Chuck Studley. Adelphia, assisted by the Revelers and the Maroon Key, conducted the rallies before each major home game. After these rallies which were highlighted by a soaring bonfire and a rousing cheering session, pre-game spirit was at its peak.

Coach Studley with his daughter wears the freshman beanie he kept on until the first touchdown against AIC.

After the rally, a dance—

FLOAT PARADE

Thoughts were put together and imaginations came out fighting for the annual Homecoming Float Parade. Cheers and shouts for the homefloat decorated the three-mile route. With no specific theme designated, floats concentrated on encouragement for the football team. Top winning sorority was Sigma Kappa, while QTV captured the fraternity first. Men's dorm winner was Van Meter. Coming out victoriously for the women's dorm was Arnold House.

Theta says "Spin 'em Alive."

"Go Massachoosetts" is the cry of Van Meter Dorm.

HOMECOMING 1960

Mr. Davis, President of the Alumni Association, with President Lederle crowns Judy Lawson, Homecoming Queen 1960.

The halftime ceremonies began with a brief address by our new president, Dr. Lederle . . .

. . . and a performance by the Redmen Marching Band and the Precisionettes.

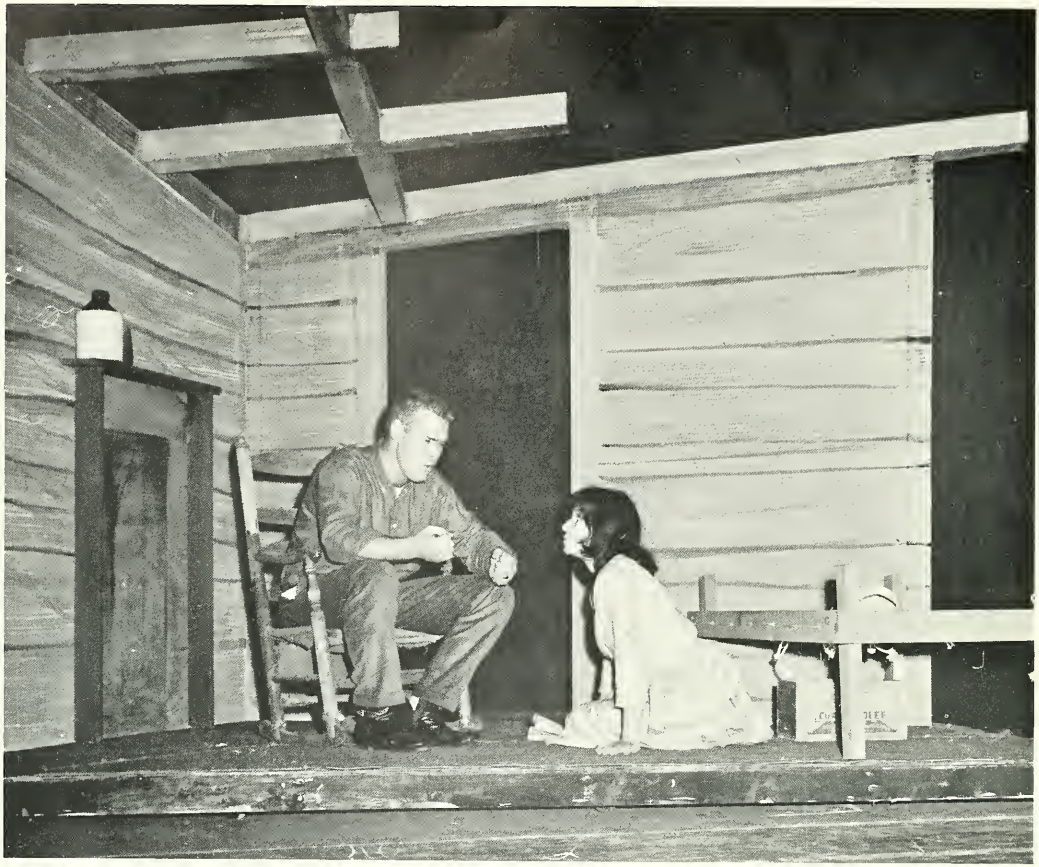

Homecoming this year brought more alumni back to the University than ever before. The reasons were evident—a new president, a new football coach, a winning football team and a rapidly growing university. The weekend festivities began Friday evening with one of the largest and most colorful float parades yet—over forty floats participating. The enthusiasm carried over to Saturday afternoon and our game with the University of Connecticut. Spirits were dampened somewhat by our first loss of the year, but not for long. For Saturday night was the scene of many parties including those of the fraternities and sororities who welcomed back old friends.

The second half changed hope to dismay.

Final score—UCONN 31, UMASS 0

The Operetta Guild presented the world premier of Thunder in the Hills written by two University of Massachusetts graduates, Robert Boland and Russell Falvey. The musical drama was presented October 19 through the 22nd by the thespians Buffy St. Marie, Don Brown, Arlaine Anderson, Alan Couper, Tom Dodge, Steve Allen, Karen Canfield, Judith St. Jean, and Paul Cwiklik.

The show was considered a fine beginning for the new authors who unfolded a story of conflict and emotions set to their own musical compositions. "Gonna Raise a Roof" and "What a Day" were mixed with the inspirational "Creation Ballad" and "There's a Land."

Buffy sings "What A Day."

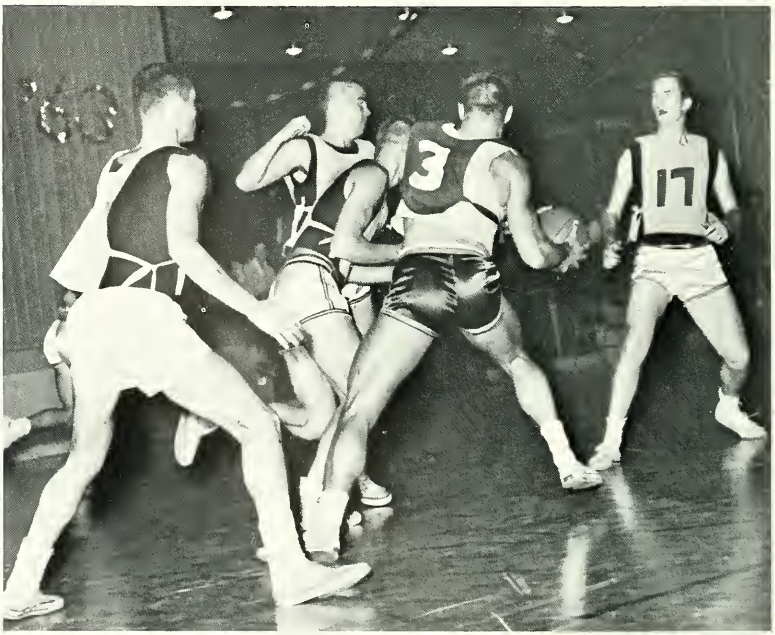

THUNDER IN THE HILLS

You keep it—I don't want it.

SOPH-FROSH NIGHT

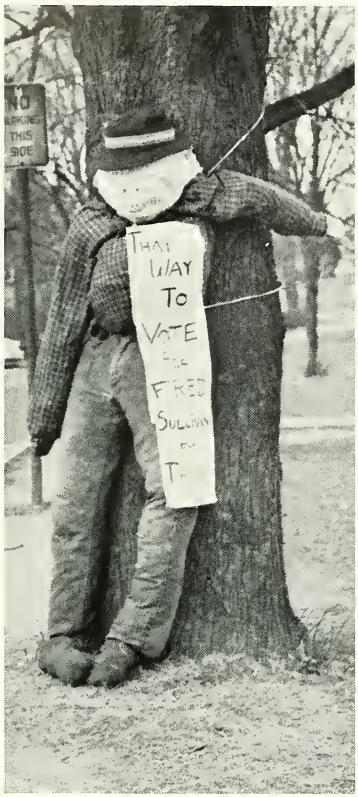

This year's annual Soph-Frosh night was enjoyed by nearly 1,000 students. The Sophomores gained the most points during the evening which included a cheerleading battle, volleyball, swimming, and a basketball game between the Sophomore and Freshman men. The game which proved to be a thriller was won by the Sophomores in overtime 50-47. After the games, a dance was held featuring Dave Cramer and his band.

Splish splash, I was taking a bath.

Fellas—don't fight!

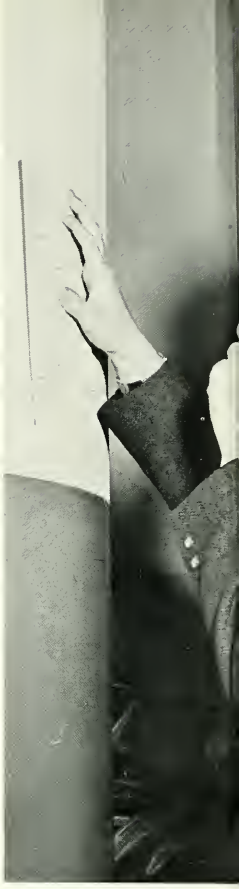

Fred looks rather tired.

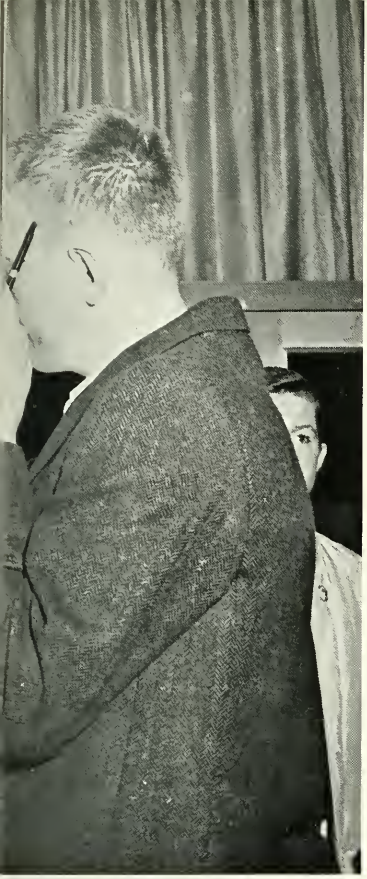

ELECTION MONTH

November is Election Month. UMass picked the winners at home and in the nation. In the mock election held on November 2, student voters elected the Kennedy ticket along with statewide winners Saltonstall and Volpe. We went astray for the office of Lt. Governor as UMass picked Means over the state winner McLaughlin. Secretary White won over UMass' choice Brooke, but we chose Attorney General McCormack over Michaels, the state loser. Auditor Buckley defeated Wardwell.

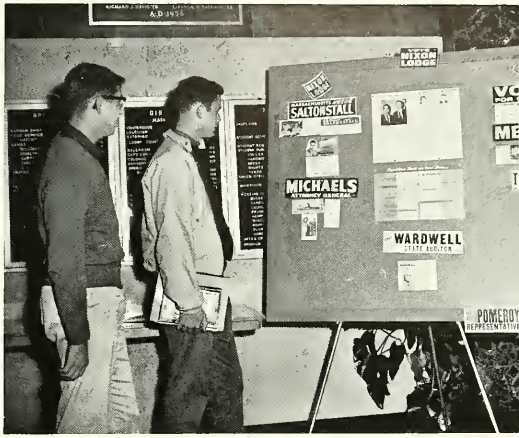

November 16 was freshman day as they voted into office Stephen B. Kingsley, president and Michael McGinty, vice president. Betty Mercer got the secretarial job as Fred Sullivan became treasurer.

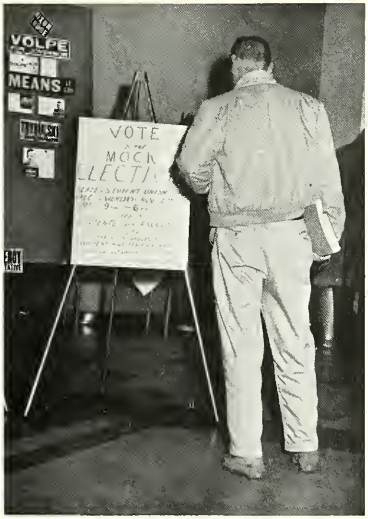

Let's see now . . .

Take your pick.

That's right fella, even you can vote in this one.

Mercy! Mercy!

IFC SKITS

A sellout crowd attended the successful IFC skits which were held Friday, December 2. QTV was the winner with their pantomime takeoff on the French Revolution. "Our Town—Amherst" gave Phi Mu Delta the second place prize as Theta Chi took third place for "Jose and the Androids." Don McKeag was master of ceremonies as he conducted story time between scene changes.

IFC SING

In one of the finest sing competitions in years, Tau Epsilon Phi proved their worth with their clever arrangement of "Blow Ye Winds," just edging out a determined group from TKE. Third place went to Sig Ep for an unusual travesty on "Comin' Through the Rye." Due to the extremely close competition for the first three places, a fourth place honorable mention was given to Phi Sigma Kappa for "Halls of Ivy."

HORT SHOW

Many interesting landscapes and garden displays were seen at the annual horticulture show. The exhibit, "Urban Gardens," opened Friday, November 4 and lasted until Sunday, November 6. Visitors from all parts of the state came to the show which was sponsored by the College of Agriculture. First place winners at the exhibit were Wendell Cook, Charles Repeta, Richard Feola, Richard Benoit and John McManmon. Emil Incollingo and Peter Martin placed first in their respective classes.

"I could have danced all night"

The special events committee of the SU presented "Fall Fashion Fantasy" on Tuesday evening, November 15, in the SU ballroom. The models wore clothes from the House of Walsh, Hanley's, and Margaret Nelson. Sue Goldsmith, '64, served as commentator as she described the outfits and told where they could be purchased. Many outfits were modeled including the casual and the formal attire. During the intermission, emcee Joe Lerner, '62, introduced the Zumbyes, a singing group from Amherst College.

Nice outfit—look what came with it!

LOOK HOMEWARD ANGEL

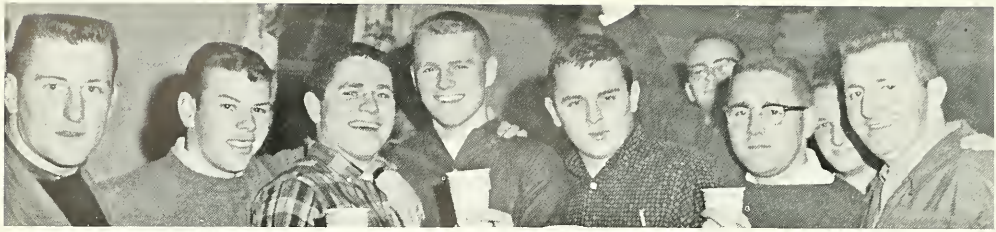

"Look Homeward Angel," produced by Roister Doister, was very successfully presented on November 17, 18, and 19. Philip Fisher as Eugene Gant, Paul Cwiklik as Mr. Gant, and Jayne Hayden as Eliza performed with expert ease under the direction of Mr. Arthur E. Niedeck.

The fun lovers of the class of '61 gathered at the Quonset Club for grinders, beer, rocking music, and lots of laughs. Expressive faces tell the story of those who found congenial companionship, and one who didn't.

They all laughed when I sat down at the piano.

MILITARY BALL

On December 3rd, the military contingent of our University played host at the annual Military Ball held in the Student Union Ballroom. The evening featured the fine arrangements of Ronnie Drumm and his orchestra. The event was highlighted by the traditional tapping of the Honorary Colonel. Harriet Cutler, the outgoing Colonel, passed on her cape to the lucky girl, Carol Ann Guerrette, a freshman from Salem, proclaiming her Honorary Colonel for 1961!

A big smile from the new colonel.

You guessed it—Ronnie Drumm and his orchestra.

Several very important people made their appearance at the ball.

There you are, way over in the corner.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA'S Wendy Russel earned third place with "The Wife of Bath" from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

Jane Hayden, of ALPHA CHI OMEGA won second place with excerpt from A Raisin in the Sun by Lorraine Hansberry.

First place in the Dramatization Competition was taken by Nancy King of KAPPA ALPHA THETA. She gave an excellent presentation of Dorothy Parker's A Telephone Call.

SORORITY DEC AND SING

This year's Inter-sorority Sing and Dramatization was acclaimed one of the best. The poise, choice of selection and use of voice of each of the participating sororities made the event truely enjoyable and worthwhile.

Sorority Sings are traditional on college campus' throughout the country, ours has been a part of U. Mass. for so long, that no one can recall its date of origin. The Dramatization is unique here at the University and because of its popularity is regarded by all as an intregal part of the evening.

The Sing and Dramatization affords each sorority an opportunity to display the originality, showmanship, musical and organizational ability of its members. The pride and sense of accomplishment of each competing house and the enjoyment of every audience listener has and will continue to make the event a college memory not to be forgotten.

PHI DELTA NU won third place singing The Lonely Shepherd and Angelus Ad Pastores Ait.

PI BETA PHI singing My Favorite Things and The Holy City earned second place.

SIGMA KAPPA, with fine renditions of Fiddle-Dee-Dee and Open Your Eyes captured first place in the Inter-Sorority Sing.

Gee, wait 'til mom sees this.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES

Christmastime was party time as sororities and fraternities entertained children at many happy gatherings. Santa Claus came in many shapes and sizes as fraternities joined sororities in bringing good cheer. The radiant excitement of children scrambling for colorful packages and tasty treats was heartwarming for kids of all ages.

Ring around Rosie.

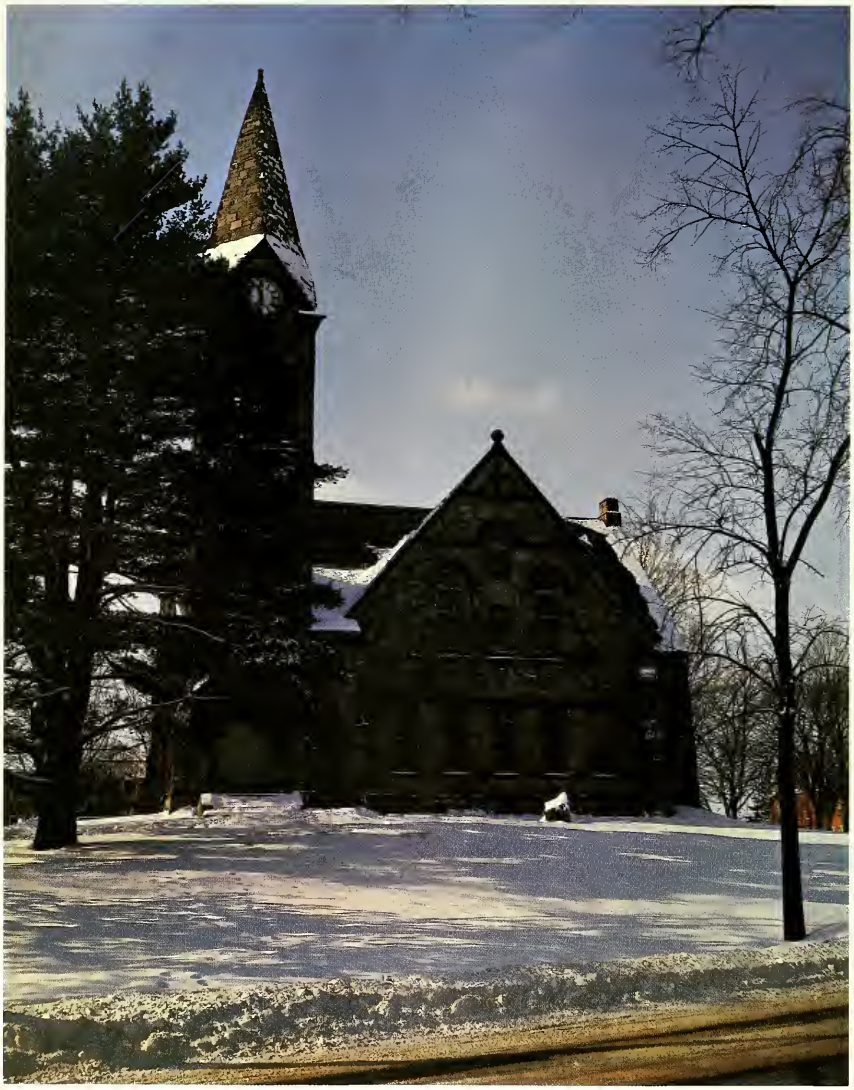

Keep them high and no one will get hurt.

O.K. Louis, drop the gat.

In the center of campus stands the Old Chapel, steeped in the tradition of the University. On November 6, 1884, its corner stone was laid by class officers of the college. The building was constructed of granite from the quarry in Pelham owned by the college. It was the finest building on campus serving as a library on one floor and a chapel on the second floor. By 1932, it had 90,000 books and served exclusively as a library. The bells of the Old Chapel were presented in 1937 by Bernard H. Smith in memory of his classmate, Warren Hinds, class of 1899. Today they toll to celebrate the winning of football games and to celebrate special holidays.

SNOWED IN !

Old Man Winter announced his arrival on January 14 with a roar as he brought over a foot of snow to the area. All transportation was virtually paralyzed. A strong wind added to the misery of those who had to take final exams on that not-too-pleasant Saturday morning. Many students found that after trudging through mountains of snow to take their finals, their instructors had been unable to make it. The net result of the storm was a mass of stalled automobiles, unusable sidewalks and general dismay for anyone trying to get somewhere on time.

There must be an easier way to get about.

No starting problem here.

All shoveled out . . . now it won't start.

Now that it's in the road, where do I park it?

Paydirt . . . er—snow I mean.

These gals don't seem to mind it.

These fellows found snow without going outside.

UNIVERSITY CELEBRITIES

A school is not only academic and socially orientated. A school has individuals each possessing talent of their own. At UMass we have a singer and songwriter, a politician and the title holder of Miss Massachusetts. Bob Smith does the singing while Dave Vigneault does the politicking. The title of Miss Massachusetts of 1960 belongs to Barbara Feldman.

Miss Massachusetts is Barbara Feldman, a senior majoring in speech. Barbara, who is in Kappa Alpha Theta, was chosen as Miss Massachusetts for the Miss Universe Pageant from a group of twenty-one contestants in the Commonwealth. Miami Beach was the scene of the Pageant which was held in July. Barbara was chosen a finalist in the Miss USA contest.

"I won the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 5th Hampden District, Wards 2 and 8, of Springfield, population 64,000, on September 13th. This district has two representatives and I came in second in a field of sixteen candidates."

So wrote David N. Vigneault of Springfield, University sophomore, after the primary elections. "Vigneault Wins Seat in House," read the headline on November 9, 1960, as youth seemed to prevail in elections across the country.

At the age of 24, Dave will be the youngest member of the Massachusetts Legislature. A veteran of three years of Army service, he is a government major and plans to continue his education as his legislative schedule permits.

"Shimmy, Shimmy ko-ko-Bop, Shimmy-shimmy Bop" was all we heard from the juke box for awhile when Bob Smith wrote his song hit. A junior majoring in General Business, Bob is in a typical success story. After his song became a best seller, Bob branched out into the field of singing. His latest platter, "Dream Angel," is now being heard.

Bob is from Boston and on campus he is president of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity.

HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS

KING OF THE WORLD

Among celebrated guests this year, we had Bishop Homer Tomlinson, self-styled god, who crowned himself "King of Massachusetts University." Claiming a following of 150 million, the "King" has also run for the presidency of the United States—defeated of course. If a bit eccentric, he was amusing.

What do you mean, I'm a phoney?

WINTER CARNIVAL

Winter Carnival 1961 was a great success. We had snow for the first time in three years which was perfect for sculptures. Activities were in full swing starting with a Chapel Bell concert on Friday evening, followed by a gay display of fireworks. At the Carnival Ball, there was dancing to the Glenn Miller Orchestra under the direction of Ray McKinley. During intermission, Bette Broberg was crowned Winter Carnival Queen by President Lederle.

The theme "A Little Bit of Yesteryear" was displayed in the snow sculpturing contest which was judged on Saturday. A snow slide, igloo and snow bowl provided fun for the afternoon activities. The festivities ended on Sunday afternoon with singing entertainment by the Brothers Four.

BEARD CONTEST

"Doesn't it itch?" was a leading question for many undergraduate men as the beard growing contest for Winter Carnival progressed. The opportunity to be beatnik or lazy resulted in two bearded ones receiving free tickets for the weekend. Judged by Nelson Major of the Scalp shop, the contest was based not necessarily on the length of the beard but rather its quality. First place winner was Donald Paultney as William Merrill and James Curtis placed second and third.

SNOW SCULPTURE

The route to the University was crowded with Sunday drivers viewing the snow sculpture displays on campus. Animals, people and buildings took their form in snow during the best snow season in three years. Dormitories, sororities and fraternities spent hours building their prodigies, some of which were in color. The theme "A Little Bit of Yesteryear" was seen in sculptures depicting UMass traditions gone by and in historical events of the United States. First place fraternity winner was Alpha Gamma Rho. QTV and Phi Mu Delta placed second and third. Sigma Kappa led the sororities with second and third places going to Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Delta Nu. Dormitory winners were: Mens': Adams, Baker and Hills in first, second and third order respectively. Women's: Lewis placed first while Knowlton and Hamlin took second and third.

THE JAZZ CONCERT

This year's Winter Carnival Jazz Concert was a deviation from the past few years in that jazz in the true sense of the word was not the central theme. Nevertheless, the Brothers Four put on one of the most enjoyable performances to grace the campus yet. Their unusual renditions of the old and the new made the audience clamor for more when the performance came to a close.

The denizens of the cinderblock apartments combine housework, study and fun while budgeting the pennies 'til Dad and/or Mother gets through college. Their small homes exemplify compact, well-designed construction, lacking only a garage for those cumbersome baby carriages. The congeniality of married students is displayed in their cooperation on babysitting, throwing parties, studying for exams, and lending everything from sugar to maternity clothes. It is generally agreed that the married apartments can't be beat for inexpensive, pleasant and comfortable college residences.

CAMPUS VARIETIES

Campus Varieties, for the fourth year in a row, provided the campus with another original, student produced and directed musical comedy. Performing superbly were Fred Shotz as Satan, Jean Alden as Carmen, and Don Brown as Rodwell. The play, entitled "The Infernal Triangle" was written by Wes Honey and directed by Ed Rodriguez. Music for the entire show was arranged by Fran Lovejoy.

Plans for the Concert are begun in the Spring for the following year. All choreography is done by the students and presented soley by them.

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

"The Abstract Idea" was the theme of this year's Mortar Board Fine Arts Festival Program. The senior women's honor society presented the festival from Wednesday, February 22, to Sunday, February 26. The highlight of the program was the presentation of the American Composer Aaron Copland who appeared under the student sponsored Distinguished Visitor Program. Other activities included the showing of experimental films furnished by New York's Museum of Modern Art; an exhibit of modern paintings, drawings and sculptures; a modern dance recital; gallery talks on abstract painting and photography; a demonstration of the productions of electronic music and a reading of a modern play.

The Birth of an Idea—how's this for being abstract?

AARON COPELAND

Aaron Copeland, the dean of American music, delivered the feature lecture of Fine Arts Festival speaking on "Contemporary Music."

Mr. Copeland stated that the beginnings of modern music came when the sounds departed from standards of the nineteenth century Romantic tradition. He mainly discussed Arnold Schoenberg, the dominating figure of modern music.

Copeland feels that this music has a love of new tone color and "delicacy of sound," but is extremely difficult to perform.

Proud of the fact that he is an "American" composer, Copeland does not feel that being labeled nationalistic limits his ability to write music.

ISLAND

The premiere of Island, a controversial new play by Oscar Mandel, was presented as a dramatic reading as part of the Fine Arts Festival. Directed by Miss Doris E. Abrahamson of the Department of Speech, the play presented a modern conception of the legend of Philoctetes, the archer whom the fastidious Greeks abandoned on their voyage to Troy after he had received a repulsive wound. The cast consisted of faculty members, students and alumni in the production sponsored by the Massachusetts Review. Music was written by Gene Benton of New York who has composed music for various Broadway plays.

HOKKAIDO UNIVERSITY

Hokkaido University and the University of Massachusetts, with the financial support of the U. S. International Cooperation Administration and the Japanese Ministry of Education and other Japanese agencies have been carrying on a program of mutual assistance in the field of agricultural improvement in Hokkaido for the last two years.

This cooperative program has revitalized the long association of the two institutions. This was started in 1876 when W. S. Clark, an early president of what is now the University of Massachusetts, helped to found what is now Hokkaido University. After his eight months of service in Hokkaido, other professors from Massachusetts continued in service at Sapporo, some of them for extended periods. This close association lapsed in the 1890's, though there has always been an exchange of letters and short visits of professors at the two institutions.

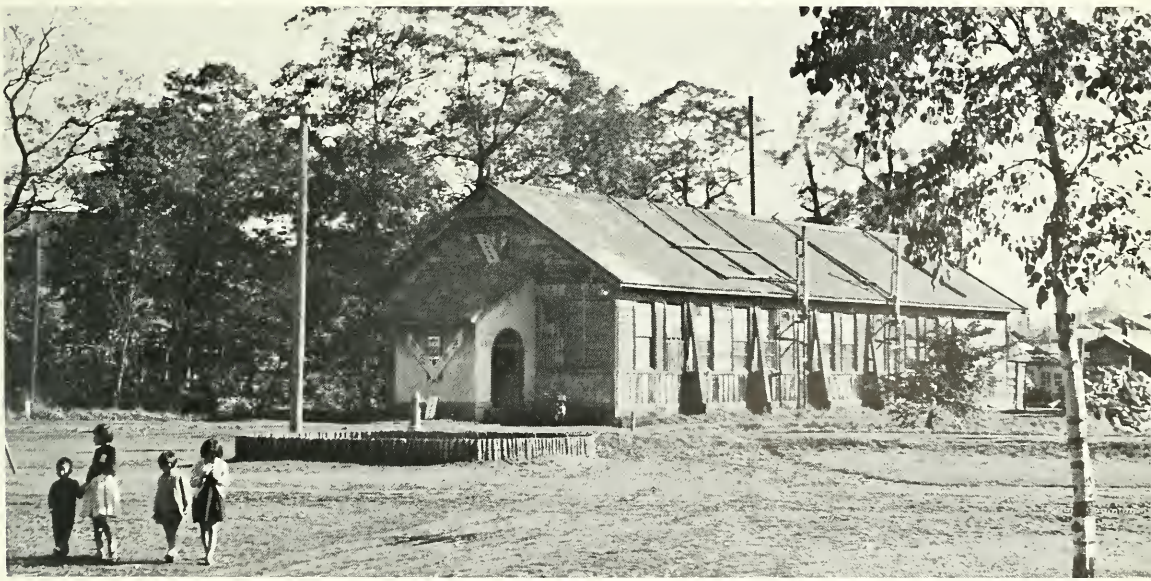

In September of 1956, President Mather, Dean of Agriculture Sieling, and Professor Zahradnik of the Department of Agricultural Engineering attended the celebration of Hokkaido's 80th year. President Mather and President Suginome made an agreement that they would seek to establish an affiliation between the two universities. As a result, in November of 1957 a contract was signed between the International Cooperation Administration and the University of Massachusetts which assured financial support for a four year program. The program has been a great success, and has led to much exchange of professors and administrators.

The Distinguished Visitors Program has been established by the students of the University to bring to the Campus "outstanding persons in the various fields of human endeavor." Senate bill S-35 founded the program and arranged for its finance through a student tax. The present program is administered by representatives of the Student body, the University trustees, the Administration, the Faculty, and the Associate Alumni.

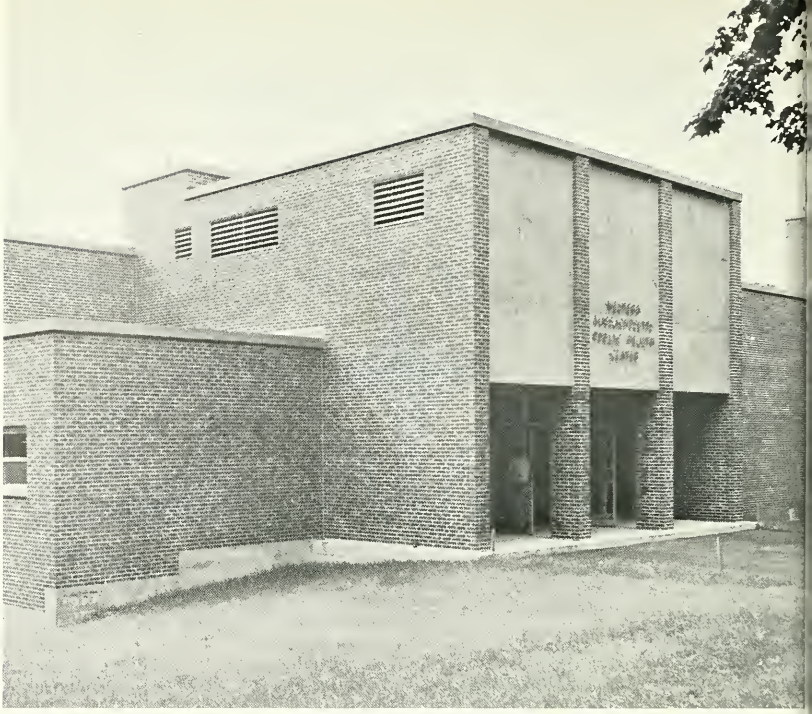

The Program began its series with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who spoke on the United Nations and some of its immediate problems. After lecturing to a capacity audience, Mrs. Roosevelt held an informal discussion session in the Cape Cod Lounge.

Mrs. Roosevelt is greeted by Dr. John Gillespie

In Spring, a young man's fancy turns to love . . . Although our two friends could be discussing their romantic feelings, most likely they're talking about English and history, too, as Spring also brings finals. But only on a country campus are we touched with the appreciation of nature as we take out time getting to classes. Put on the bermuda shorts, get out the charcoal, we're going to have a picnic! In spring, we get a new lift and our campus hills spread over long walks of greenery and sunshine as UMass welcomes a new season. And in spring, we turn to outdoor sports on our acres of baseball fields and tennis courts. Spring has a feeling of its own.

CAMPUS VIEWS

The old and the new of University buildings are integrated by predominately brick architecture, the old adhering to classical design, the new to simple straight angled functional construction. Although each building or group of related structures has a unique quality of its own, the University community has developed into a coordination of beauty.

The night-lighted facade of the Justin S. Morrill Science Center provides an impressive sentinel overlooking the college pond and Student Union.

Stockbridge Hall, with its massive Corinthian columns, houses offices of the Agriculture Department and Bowker Auditorium, used for many years by student productions and visiting lecturers.

Bartlett Hall

One of the buildings opened this year is Bartlett Hall providing classrooms for the School of Arts and Sciences. Bartlett provides four floors of classrooms and faculty offices divided into two wings. Modern language labs allow each language student to record as he learns. Bartlett Hall is one of the five new buildings opened this year under the UMass expansion program. Justice Morrill is the new Science Building and the Goodell Library has an addition. Johnson House is a new girls' dormitory. A modern gymnasium and a swimming pool highlight the new Women's Physical Education Building. Future plans include more dormitories as UMass grows and grows.

Goodell Library

In September, the addition to the Goodell Library was opened. Seven levels provide twice the size of the original building. The library complex will provide space for the future expansion of the book collection to 460,000 volumes. Seating capacity is provided for 1350 readers including special study areas and reading rooms. The present book collection now numbers 221,000 volumes in the University Library.

The Periodical Room contains over 1000 magazines in every field. Two levels are devoted to periodicals ranging from the late 19th Century to yesterday. A large collection of reference books are also on hand for the researcher.

Chief Red Blasko, guardian of the campus

U. MASS' FINEST

Captain Red Blasko and his staff perform vital functions for our campus. A continual bulwark against harm to our women, outside aggression from Amherst, Mount Holyoke or Smith, and bombings of the Student Union, these fearless guardians ride through the night. Dogs haven't a chance on the football field, nor children too near the sidelines. The police do car owners a great service by registering their cars and adorning them with brightly colored stickers. They alleviate or cause traffic congestion as they see fit. No evil doer—drinker, lover, illegal parker, or walker on grass escapes their wrath. Rest easily tonight with knowledge that your men in blue are protecting you.

THE HATCH

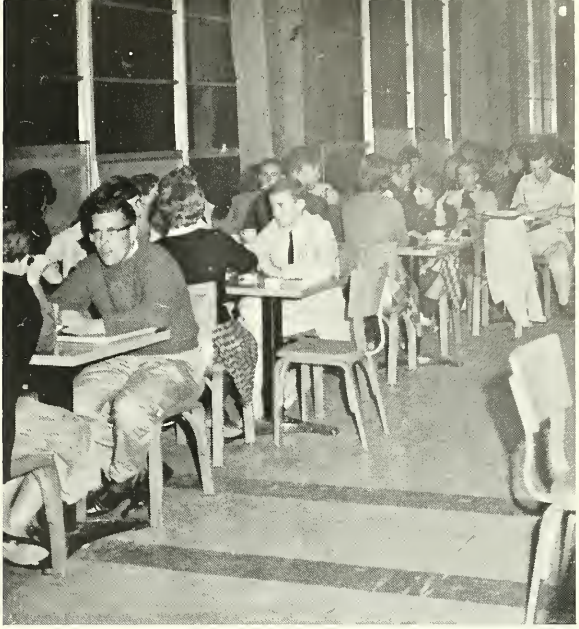

The Student Union is the center of intellectual, social, and recreational activities. Club meetings come to order here; exams are studied for; ping pong, pool and bowling balls see action; and time knows no schedule in the Hatch. The University Store offers all that a student needs and a few interesting extras. A large inlaid wood floored ballroom provides the perfect setting for dancing. There are record boothes and pianos available for the musical. The services of expert barbers are much appreciated. An efficient office staff coordinates Union activities with the extra-curricular. The Union is a building of such varied and useful functions that it has become an integral part of each student's life.

The keynote address which formally opened the weekend was given by Mr. Irving Pflaum, a member of the American Universities Field Staff, Inc. Mr. Pflaum's address emphasized the role of the United States in Cuba's history and the current political situation which exists on the island.

A jubilated University of Massachusetts eleven raised novice coach, Charlie Studley, on their shoulders and carried him off the field, following their victory over New Hampshire which made the Redmen co-champions of the Yankee Conference.

Victory over U.N.H.

RESUME

Charles B. Studley came to campus this year as the new Head Coach of the varsity football team and gave UMass its best squad since 1932. The team finished with a 7-2 record and a half share in the Yankee Conference crown with the University of Connecticut. It was the first time that UMass had been in first place in the YanCon since the Conference was formed back in 1947.

The Redmen started off fashionably with a victory over the University of Maine, 21-13. Maine was figured to be a leading contender for the YanCon title this year, but the invasion and conquest of the Metawampe crew proved beyond a doubt that the race was between UMass and UConn.

Following the Maine win, the Redmen opened their home season with a victory over American International College. On the following Saturday Studley's men perpetrated one of the biggest upsets in New England College football in recent years by swamping the Harvard Johnnies, 27-12.

The victory train was stopped abruptly when UConn spoiled our Homecoming and walloped the Redmen, 31-0. Supposedly the Yankee division fight was over. There was no one in sight to stop the Huskies now. UMass went on to defeat Rhode Island (34-16), Northeastern (7-0), and headed to Boston to face the B.U. Terriers.

The Redmen suffered their second and final loss there, but more important was the startling news that UNH had beaten UConn. It was now a three way tie: UMass, UConn and UNH. Two weeks later the Redmen decisively eliminated the Wildcats, 35-15, to gain the dual tie with UConn. To add more laurels, the Amherst men blasted Springfield in the final game of the season, 35-8.

The final record: 7 wins, 2 losses; the first time a UMass team has scored seven victories in one season since 1932.

MAINE

The Redmen started off the 1960 season by proving that they were definite contenders for the Yankee Conference Crown by scalping the Maine Black Bears, 21-13. A surprisingly strong UMass running attack, combined with John McCormick's bombs, resulted in a net gain of 351 yards. The game had its sore points, though. Fullback John Gazourian was sidelined with a knee injury, and center Vin Caputo was hurt more seriously with a sprained knee that was to keep him out of action for the entire season.

A.I.C.

The talented toe of John Bamberry provided the winning margin for the Redmen in their first home game of the season. The Massmen broke into the scoring column late in the first quarter and Bamberry's conversion gave them a 7-0 lead. Midway in the second period the Aces climbed back into the battle after a 76 yard march. The men from A.I.C. then elected to try for the two point conversion which would have given them the lead. The attempt was short by a couple of feet, however. Thus the Redmen won their opener, even though they had to struggle to do so, and began to set their sights on mighty Harvard.

HARVARD

The entire football world was shaken October 3 when the "fighting Redmen" came down from the hills of Amherst and tomahawked Charlie Ravenel and Co., 27-12. The famous forward wall that had held Holy Cross to 53 rushing yards was turned into a sieve by the Redmen. The UM linemen opened up the left side of the Harvard front almost at will.

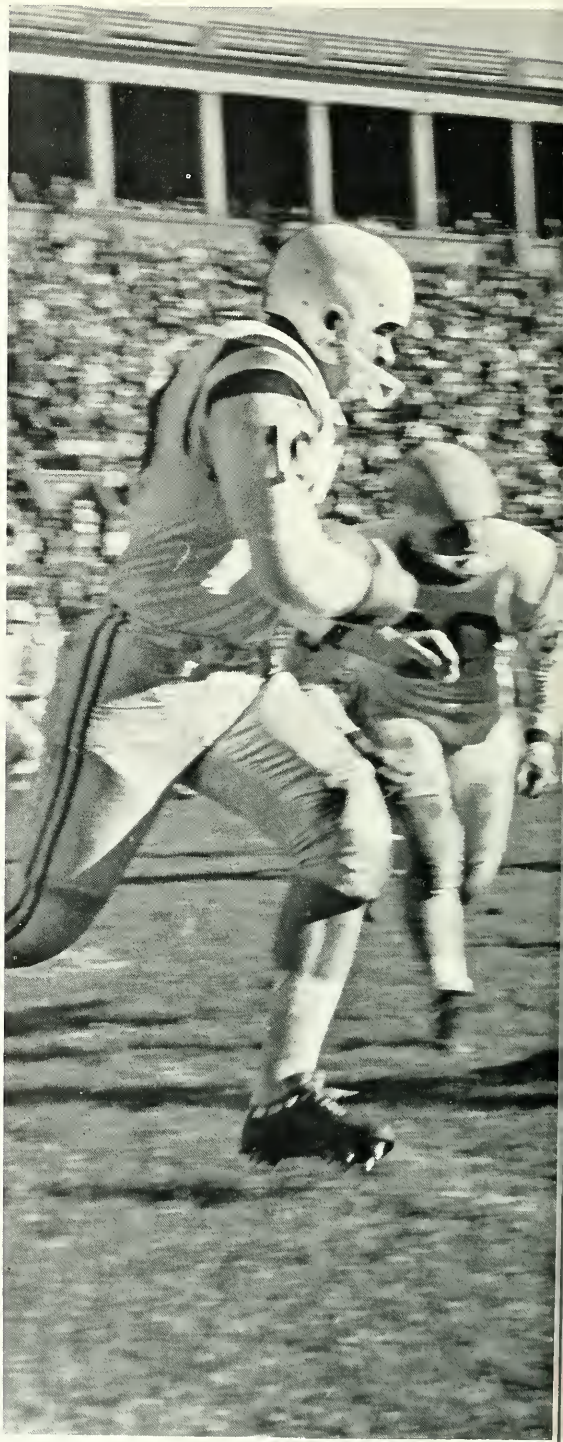

Before the Crimson even knew what hit them, the Redmen had run the score to 20-0 in 18 minutes. The Johnnies recovered momentarily and closed the gap to 20-12 in the third quarter, but were knocked down to stay soon after when Mike Salem plunged over with the fourth Redmen TD. Paul Majeski contributed much to the UMass cause by blocking a Harvard punt and recovering a fumble, both of which led to UMass touchdowns. Sam Lussier carried 21 times for 87 yards and 25% of UMass play. But it was the whole team that won this one and proved that the darkhorse of New England football had become a power with which to be reckoned.

CONNECTICUT

After having ridden the crest of a five game winning streak, the Redmen were stopped in their tracks by a powerful University of Connecticut eleven, 31-0. The victory was mostly due to a bruising second half running attack by the Huskies. UConn, considering the win a decisive statement of the eventual YanCon Champ, was in for a surprise a month later at the hands of the under rated UNH Wildcats. UMass meanwhile, wasn't to be thrown and eventually came on to tie the over-confident Huskies for the Conference Crown.

RHODE ISLAND

The Redmen, shaken but not thrown by the loss to UConn, steamed from behind in the waning minutes of the fourth period to overtake the Rhode-Island Rams, 34-16. The game was fairly close most of the way, and things looked dismal for the Redmen as URI was ahead, 16-13, with just 5 minutes remaining to play.

Then the ground fell out from under the Rams. Ace John McCormick hit Sam Lussier for a 79-yard pass-run play to make the score 20-16. Bamberry's usual conversion was successful. On the next play, UMass scored a freak touchdown on its own kickoff when guard Ben Fernandez found a fumble and scored. The Redmen managed to score once more before the final buzzer rang and left the field sporting a 4-1 record.

NORTHEASTERN

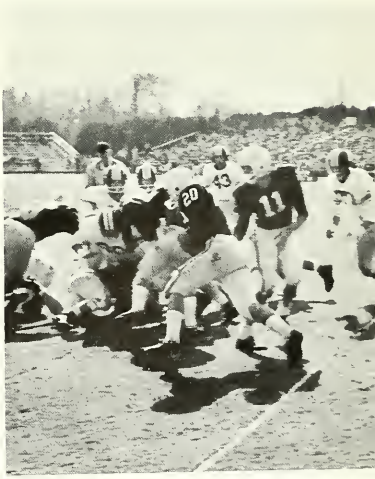

Old man time came to the aid of the stumbling Massachusetts defense in the dying seconds of the Northeastern clash. The clock took the ball from the possession of the Huskies and preserved a slim 7-0 victory for the Redmen. Sam Lussier scored the only TD early in the fourth quarter. But NU, threatening to score an upset all afternoon, was not yet stopped. They drove from their 20 to the UMass 15, and were encamped at the latter spot with 15 seconds left to play. The Redmen defense, which had stymied all previous drives, seemed to disintegrate under the blistering attack. The fading seconds saw the Huskies trying to call time after they had moved the ball to the 1 yard line; but time marched on and the next play, the possible winning one, never materialized. Jack Conway completed 6 of 14 passes in this one.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

The second and final loss of the 1960 Redmen team came on October 31, at the hands of Boston University. Fumblitis was the deadly disease that spelled disaster for UMass. Two key bobbles spoiled a UMass scoring drive and to a Terrier touchdown, respectively. The defensive unit was outstanding in this game, especially the fine line work of guard Gerry Cullen. The powerhouse Terriers weren't very successful against the UMass line, and scored on errors made by the offensive platoon.

While the Redmen were losing in Boston, more important things were happening in Durham, New Hampshire. The UNH Wildcats were reviving their own as well as UMass hopes for the Yankee Conference Crown by defeating mighty UConn. The next game, UMass vs. UNH, would have to eliminate at least one of the teams from the tie.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

One team had to be eliminated, and the Redmen proved decisively that it shouldn't be they. With UNH favored by almost all experts to win by two touchdowns, the Redmen played their best home game of the season to smash the Wildcats, 35-15. The big star of the game was halfback Ken Kezer. Filling in for injured Sam Lussier, the speedy junior scored three touchdowns and was a major sharer in the awesome 277 yards gained on the ground by the Redmen. The result was a tie for the crown between UM and UConn.

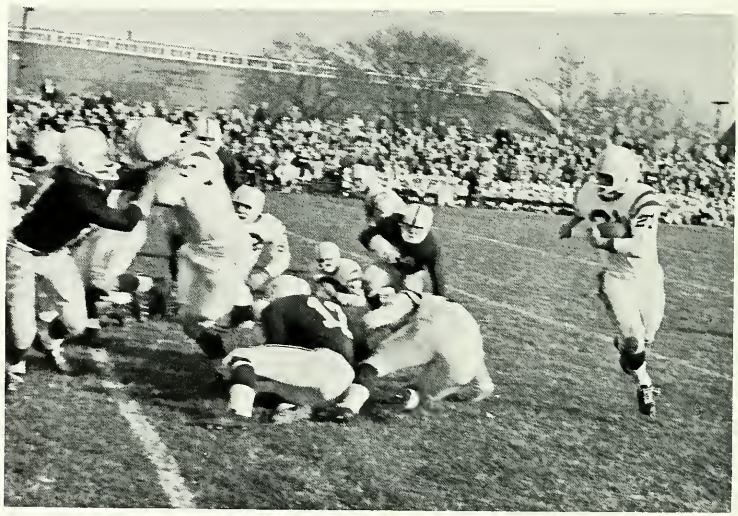

TIRED BUT TRIUMPHANT are these Redmen seniors who played the last game of their college career for a 35-8 victory over neighboring Springfield. These men not only secured a YanCon championship but at the same time acquired the distinction of being the finest UMass. football team in 28 years. They are, front from left: JOHN CONWAY, quarterback; DICK HOSS, fullback; BOB ROLAND, halfback; ARMAND CARAVIELLO, guard; TOM DELNICKAS, co-captain, halfback. Standing, from left: GERRY CULLEN, guard; ED BUMPUS, tackle; JOHN MURPHY, halfback; HARRY WILLIFORD, end; BOB O'NEILL, manager; DAVE SWEPSON, end; BEN FERNANDEZ, guard; and JOHN BURGESS, co-captain, tackle.

SPRINGFIELD

With a share in the Beanpot assured, the University of Massachusetts Redmen took the field against Springfield College for their last game of the season and completely outclassed the Marooners, 35-8. Ken Kezer again scampered across for three touchdowns as Tom Delnickas and Paul Majeski also contributed one each. The game was a fitting finish to a fine debut season for Coach Chuck Studley; a season that made New England football fans perk up and take notice of the Sleeping Giant who had finally begun to awaken.

The freshmen football team gave UMass a pleasant outlook for next year, by coming up with an excellent season. The frosh, although they started out on the losing side of the ledger, won the remainder of their games to accumulate an overall 3-1 record. In the first game the Little Redmen lost a heartbreaker to Boston University, 13-12. The Terriers, behind 12-6 with six seconds left, scored a touchdown as the buzzer sounded. They were able to convert and squeeze the Redmen out of victory.

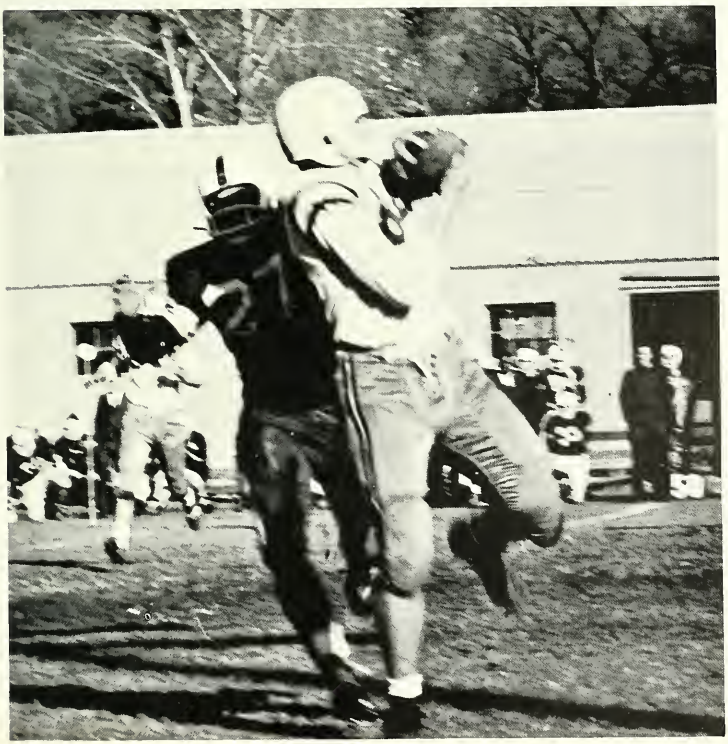

The other games were quite different stories. After dumping Springfield, 14-0, the Redmen came to face with the highly touted Connecticut Freshmen. The fact that the UConn rookies were rated as the best frosh team the Huskies have had in years didn't faze our boys at all. With a dazzling display of defensive and offensive ability, they solidly trounced the UConns, 17-0, here in Amherst.

The Redmen finished off their season by topping a strong New Hampshire eleven, 20-13, in one of the most well attended frosh events of the year. The brightest part of the season for the frosh was the outstanding play of halfback Fred Lewis. Fred ran and jumped his way into the hearts of all UMass fans, as he proved himself to be one of the hottest Redmen finds in years. Roger DiMinico and Sam Slick, ends, also showed promise of being great additions to the varsity next year.

In all, a fine showing by the Little Redmen, which has led all fans to expect an ever greater Redmen Varsity this fall.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Footrick can well be proud of his victorious 1960 Varsity Cross Country team, which posted its most successful season in recent years.

Captained by R. E. Buschman 61 and H. E. Baroon 61, the U. Mass Harriers defeated Northeastern, Union College, U. Conn, Boston University, Springfield, and New Hampshire. The team made a fine showing in the ICA4 meet, the NEIC-AAA meet (second place), and for the first time in Coach Footrick's seven years of coaching, won the Yankee Conference Championship.

The future of next year's team looks good indeed. Coach Footrick will have all but two of the present team returning as well as the outstanding freshman team.

Sophomores, K. O'Brien, C. Proctor, R. Blomstrom and D. Balsh, holder of the U. Mass. course record, should all be able to exceed their present performances. With these men as a core, plus frosh, E. Colburn, J. McDermott, J. Alden, and outstanding R. Brouillet, the team should again be victorious in the Yankee Conference.

The U. Mass soccer team had a trying and disappointing season this year. Together with the inexperience of many of the players and a plague of injuries affecting key members, the team seemed doomed from the start. However, Coach Briggs considered this season a building block for next year. The experience gained by the new players is invaluable and many hope for a team near goal that will exceed those of the past five years.

One consideration which should not be overlooked is the soccer schedule. This past season U. Mass. played five teams that were tops in New England and the outstanding team of Fairleigh-Dickinson, who victoriously defeated the NCAA champions, St. Louis. This was the last game of the season and Mass. was only behind 2-1 going into the last period when they finally tired and Fairleigh-Dickinson scored two additional goals. However, this is a positive indication of team improvement and growing ability.

The team was co-captained by Chuck Fsilaes and Andy Fsilakes. Chuck was also named Most Valuable Player of the team at the annual sports banquet. Unfortunately these two players will not be returning. Another player who was also in contention for the Most Valuable Player award was Chuck Rapeta. His value to the team is his ability to play four different positions and to play them well. The high scorers were Fsilakes, Bob Cheney, and Sam Paleocrassas. Fsilaes led the defense along with captain-elect, Dave Amundsen.

The roster for next year is: Captain Amundsen, Anche, Hawes, Packard, Weeks, Trellas, Ahlencrust, Pavlux, Graves, Whipple, Cheney, Paleocrassis, and many promising freshmen.

SPRINGFIELD TOURNEY

Another award for Doug

During the Christmas vacation the Redmen successfully defended their Springfield Invitational Tournament title by whipping Columbia, Williams and Amherst. In three years of Tourney play at Springfield, UMass finished third once, and first twice, winning eight of nine tourney games.

For the second straight year Capt. Doug Grutchfield won the MVP award and was named to the all-tourney five for the third time. Doug scored 65 points in the three games, shot .568 from the floor and averaged 11.7 rebounds. Kirk Leslie finished a close second to Grutch for MVP honors and was also named to the all-tourney team. Kirk scored 59 points in the three games shot .533 from the floor and averaged 11.3 rebounds per game.

A hot first half by junior guard Charlie LaPier plus some sharp foul shooting by Charlie Fohlin sparked the Redmen to 38-22 first half lead against Columbia in the tourney opener. After building the lead to 59-40, Coach Matt Zunic cleared the bench and the team coasted to a 64-57 triumph.

The Redmen were underdogs in the semi-final clash with Williams College. The Ephmen were 6-0 at the time and were averaging 90 points per game. The teams battled to a 28-28 first half tie. Williams shot out to a 46-34 lead with 12 minutes left to play and it looked dark for UMass. But some inspired floor-work by guards Mike Mole and Jeff Wheeler plus the red-hit jump shooting of Leslie (8 for 10) enabled the Redmen to tie the game at 51-51 with four minutes remaining. The final score read UMass 63, Williams 53.

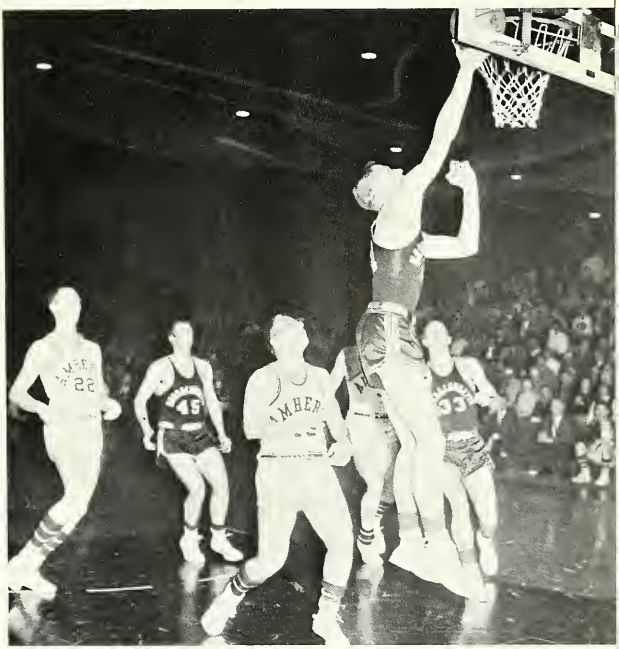

The Redmen grabbed an early lead in the finals against Cinderella team Amherst College and coasted to a convincing 67-57 triumph. Grutchfield scored 22 points, Leslie 23, and Mole 13 to pace the Redmen attack.

During the January vacation the Redmen pulled out an astonishing upset by coming from behind to dump heavily favored Canisius, 61-57 in overtime.

Mike Mole's accurate shooting was the key to the scalping of the highly ranked eastern power. Mole sank all of UMass' eight overtime points.

Don Black, sophomore center, also aided the cause by scoring 17 points. For his fine play Black earned a spot on the All-East team.

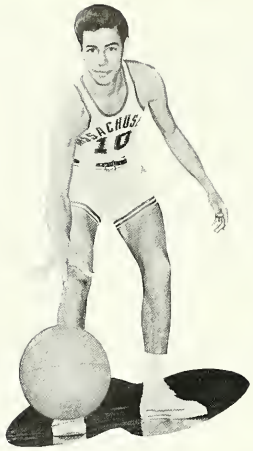

Other high scorers were guard Jim Laughnane with 13, and forward Kirk Leslie with 10.

A devastating week-end all but buried UMass' hopes for winning the Yankee Conference crown.

The Maine Bears squeezed through the first encounter 78-75, then came back the next day to hand the Redmen a 103-65 defeat, their worst of the season.

In both games UMass just couldn't seem to click. Grutchfield was held to only 20 points; Black chalked up 22. Only Leslie and Mole showed any life with 40 and 29 points respectively.

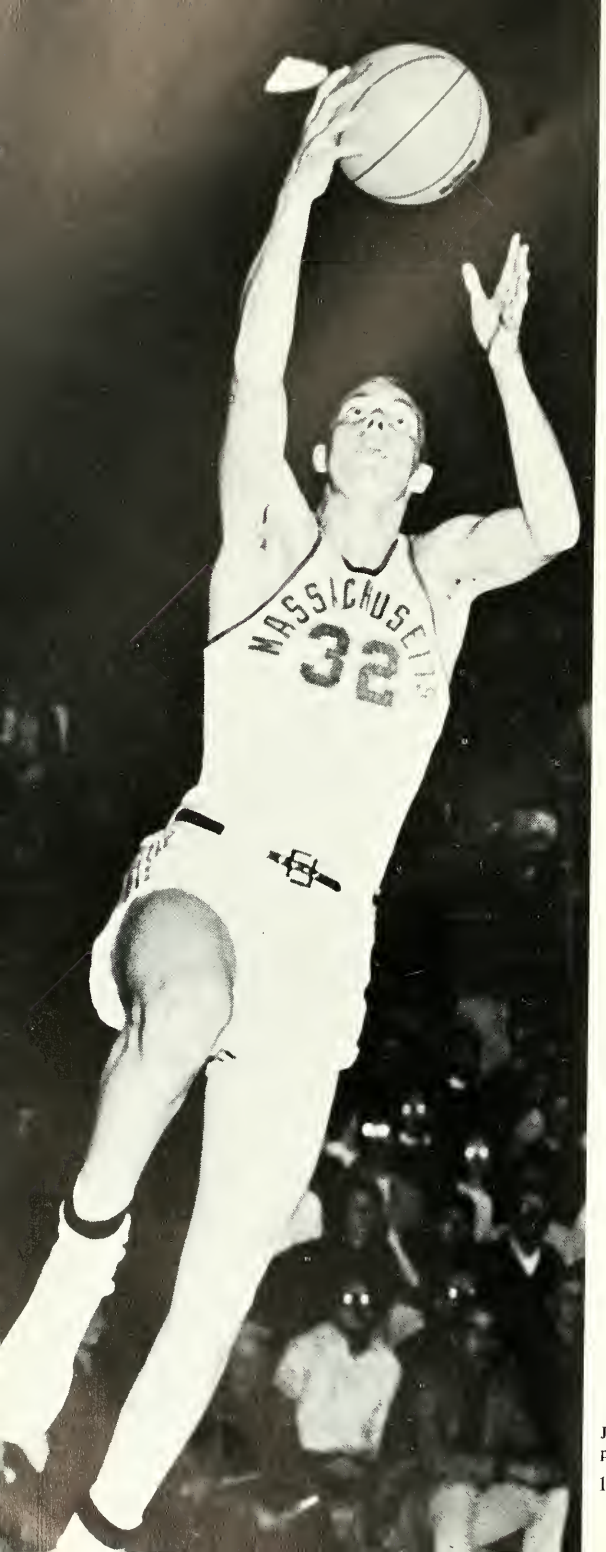

The trip back to Amherst was a sad one. On one day victory was so close, on the next, it was so far away.

The Redmen did not fair too well when they met their neighbors to the south.

The Rhode Island Rams handed the Bay Staters two defeats, as they went on to win the YanCon championship.

UMass dropped the first meeting 71-65. The second encounter saw the Rams pulling away with a very decisive 83-73 victory.

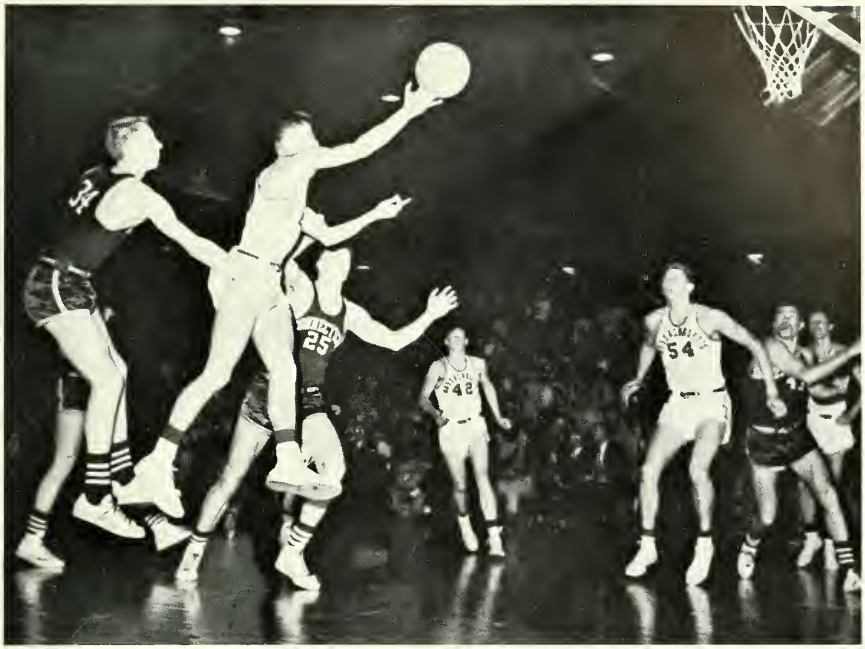

In both games a few breaks and some accuracy at the foul line could have meant the difference.

The first game with Rhody came right after the fatal week-end in Maine and it's possible the Redmen were still shaken.

The Huskie from Connecticut seemed to be a little less challenging. The Redmen dropped the first one, 72-70, but then came back to win the second, 71-54.

The loss was another heart-breaker. After allowing the Huskies to go out front, the Redmen started to close the gap in the last few minutes of play . . . but time ran out. Connecticut held to its lead tenaciously and the Redmen dropped their first YanCon game.

The University of Massachusetts quintet rolled up its highest score of the season when the Redmen trounced the Vermont Catamounts 101-66.

For the Bay Staters it was a sweet revenge for the 80-76 upset which Vermont handed them earlier in the season.

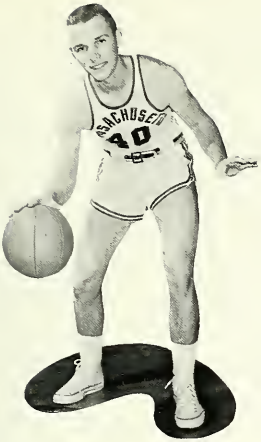

Grutchfield and Leslie led in the scoring department with 23 and 22 points apiece.

New Hampshire proved to be the easiest Yankee Conference team which faced the Redmen. The Wildcats were scalped twice; once by an 86-65 score and then by a 93-61 score on Doug Grutchfield Night.

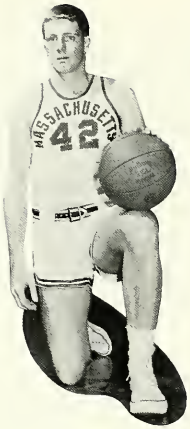

The second victory enabled the Redmen to bow out of the season in a pleasant atmosphere. It may have been Grutchfield Night but it didn't seem to bother Leslie, Mole or Laughnane. Leslie led the UMass attack with 18 points while Mole and Laughnane got 16 apiece. Surprisingly enough, Captain Grutchfield scored only 14 points.

DOUG GRUTCHFIELD

On Saturday, March 4, a capacity crowd gathered at the Cage to see the Redmen close out another basketball season, but more important, to pay tribute to Capt. Doug Grutchfield.

UMass beat New Hampshire that night 93-61, and "Grutch" bowed out of his 73rd varsity game with 14 points.

During half time, with sports publicist Dick Page as emcee, Doug was presented with gifts from his teammates, his fraternity, Kappa Sig, the student body, and the Physical Education and ROTC Departments.

Only once in his three year tenure of office did Doug fail to start, and that was due to a case of grippe which he got in his sophomore year. He holds the record for the most points scored in three years with 1257.

A physical education major, Doug is married and the father of two boys.

VARSITY

The 1960-61 edition of the UMass basketball team compiled a 16-10 record, one of the most victorious records in the school's hoop history.

A trip to the Kent State Tournament started off the season. The Redmen got off to a poor start dropping two games to Kent and Syracuse. After two successful outings against B.U. and Brandeis and a 72-70 loss to Connecticut, the Redmen travelled to Springfield to defend their tourney title. Here they downed Columbia, Williams and Amherst in that order. Improved playing by Kirk Leslie and Mike Mole, along with the steady performance of Captain Grutchfield enabled the Redmen to retain their title.

Next followed an overtime win against Northeastern. The Redmen then met the Crusaders from Holy Cross who handed them an unwelcomed 63-58 defeat.

From then on it became a see-saw season. A victory over Colby was followed by a loss to Vermont. UMass then ran up a three game win skein against heavily favored Canisius, A.I.C. and Springfield. A double loss to the Maine Bears wiped out Redmen hopes for the YanCon crown.

Another YanCon game was lost to Rhode Island. This was followed by victories over New Hampshire, UConn, Tufts and Vermont. Another loss to Syracuse was followed by a win over Manhattan. The Redmen closed out the season with a loss to Rhode Island and a final victory over U.N.H.

The failure of the Redmen to vanquish their YanCon foes is unexplainable. Their victories over Canisius and Manhattan showed they had the stuff.

Leslie, Mole and Fohlin were all improved. Black proved to be an asset. These four will probably be the nucleus for the 1961-62 team. Who will be able to fill Grutchfield's shoes . . . that's another question.

HOCKEY

The Redmen hockey team nearly split its season with six wins, six losses, and one tie, which resulted as the failure of both UMass and UConn teams to score in a double overtime, the score remaining 4-4.

The team consisted of five seniors, five juniors, and seven sophomores. Among the outstanding players was senior goalie, Bobo Roland, who averaged over thirty saves a game. Junior Art Stevens was the big offensive gun with eleven goals and three assists to his credit, among which were two hat tricks. Right behind Art was another junior, Bob Glew, who tallied eight goals and four assists during the season. Other standouts were Frank Gilliat with four goals and three assists, Bill Ryan with four goals, Jim Ellingwood with five goals and five assists, and Tom Taylor with two goals and three assists. Warren Bassett, Tom Caldwell, Ed Forbush, Rick Alger, Gerry Clinton, Charlie Donovan, Dave Kennedy, Paul Sullivan, Dave Walsh, and Pete Bracci contributed a great deal by their support and hard fighting.

Although the team will lose senior Bobo Roland, two of their offensive stars, Art Stevens and Bob Glew, will be returning. If these men turn in the performance they did this season and get good support from the rest of the team, next year's club will be right on top.

GYM TEAM

The 1961 varsity Gymnasts ended their season with a 3 and 2 record. The aerial Redmen defeated Cortland State on two occasions and downed Southern Connecticut for the third victory. The two UMass losses came at the hands of powerful Springfield College and Temple.

The team was captained by Jim Bitgood and was coached—for the early part of the season by Jim Bosco. After Coach Bosco's resignation Coach Bob James was named as the new mentor.

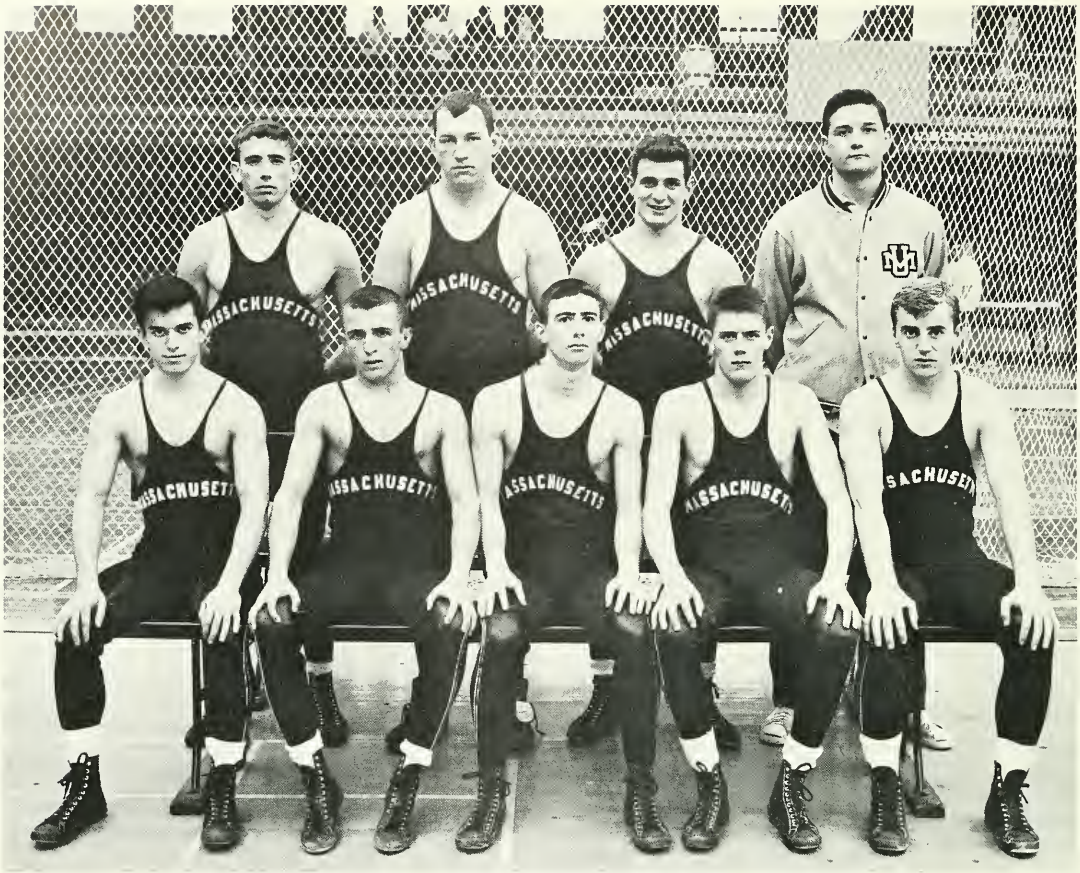

In their first encounter with Cortland State the Redmen won by a 53-43 score. They then travelled to New Haven to meet Southern Connecticut. Here the Redmen ended up again on the large end of the score 63-33.

At Springfield, however, the story was different. Here the Maroons outclassed the Redmen, 67-29.

Another meet with Cortland showed UMass on top with a decisive 62-24 victory.

The gymnasts closed out the season in Philadelphia, where a strong Temple team defeated them to the tune of 55½-40½.

The big point getters on the team were McCraken and Paydos. Veteran seniors Bitgood, and Cleary were consistently good in their performances and will be sorely missed next year.

First Row: Carlos, Israel, Batt, Kelly. Second Row: Ellis, Hartnett, Massarelli and Coach Douglass.

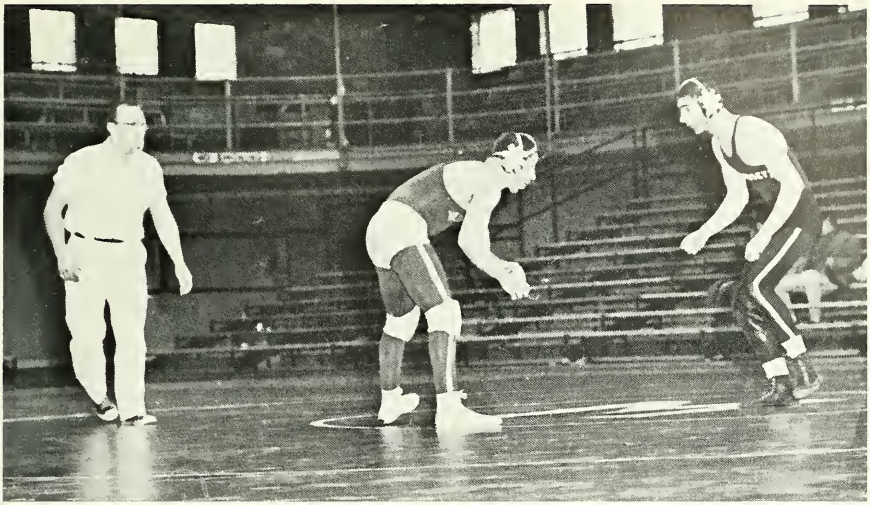

WRESTLING

The UMass wrestling team ended its season with a one and eight record. However, six of the nine competitors were teams outside the league, leaving only UConn, Tufts, and W.P.T. of comparatively equal strength. The Redmen beat UConn soundly by a score of 28-10 but lost a close one to Tufts, 20-18.

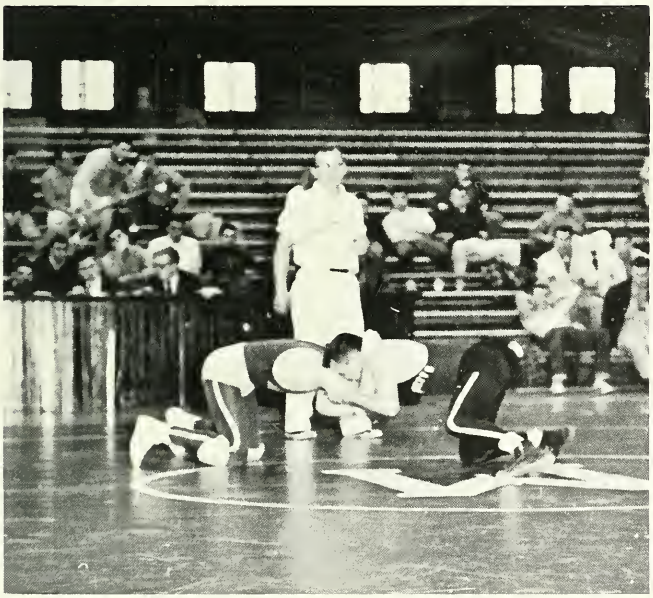

Obviously the matmen lacked the necessary experience, the roster consisting of no seniors, only two juniors, and eight sophomores. All but one on the varsity squad and two on the freshmen squad had had any previous wrestling experience.

The varsity team who showed great promise against UConn and Tufts were Bill Batt, Jack Massarelli, Tom Best, Al Israel, Mike Kelly, Duncan MacLeod, Jack Hartnett, Fred Mack, Brad Whipple, and Dan Carlos. In the freshmen ranks are Carl Winser, Dick Oliver, Craid DeWallace, John Chopman, Ed O'Connor, Dennis Buckley, and Paul Graham. Although they did not win any of their matches, they did gain experience and finesse.

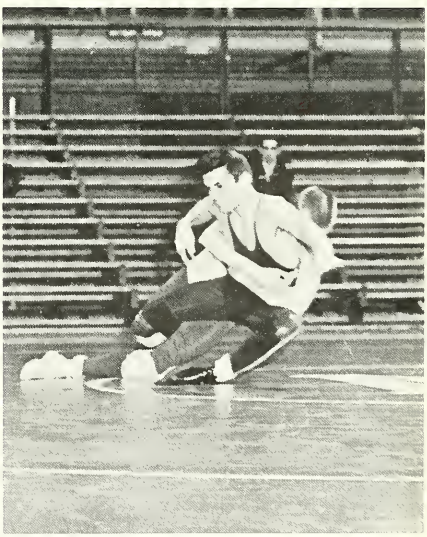

With seven experienced men from the freshmen squad returning along with the complete varsity squad, hopes for next year's season are high.

TRACK

This, the 1961 indoor track team ended its season with a fine 3 and 1 record to its credit. They also placed third in the Connecticut Relays held in Storrs Connecticut where some of the best trackmen in New England competed.

The Redmen started off on the right foot by defeating a spirited Connecticut team by a score of 63-50. Their next meeting was held in Boston against Northeastern University. The boys from Boston had a fine team to compete with ours and UMass wound up on the short end of the 66-47 score. However, the boys bounded right back into the win column by trouncing New Hampshire and M.I.T. by scores of 87-26 and 75-38 respectively.

The big guns for the team were Dick Ward, Ken O'Brien, Al Lucy, Jack Harrington, George Giddings, Loren Flagg, Dave Balch, Charlie La Pier, Joe La Marre and Ralph Buschmann. Each one of these boys received a letter and each one did a fine job for Coach Bill Footnick.

With 8 points necessary for a varsity letter, big Dick Ward led the pack with 38 points. Following close behind were Loren Flagg with 35¾, Dave Balch with 35, Ken O'Brien with 34¾, Ralph Buschmann with 24 and Al Lucy with 22. Each one of these boys was in the money in all four of their regular season meets.

With some fine freshmen coming up, next year should hold some good prospects for the track team.

SWIM TEAM

The UMass swimming team concluded the 1960-61 season, dropping a 50-45 win to Tufts, for a two and six record. Junior, Matt Ruthowski was the high scorer for the second consecutive year with 63 points. Following him was sophomore, George Tisette with 41 points. Other high scorers were Tony Lincoln, who accumulated 23 points in a single semester; likewise Bob Burke competed only a single semester for 24 points; Dave DesJardins, the only other junior on the team, tallied 23 points; Brendon O'Neill, who broke his arm just prior to the season, came back for 26 points; Bruce Morton, a steady placer in the backstroke, earned 31 points; and Dave Leitle, freestyler, accounted for a total of 28 points.

Other letter winners were Ron Chiras, Jim Coffey, Frank DeFaitas, and Eric Schulles. Jack Sampson, Bob Chisholm, and Phil LaRoche did a great deal to keep the team in top shape. Freshman members were Mike Bjornholm, Dave Pacocha, Don Grant, Mike Rothschild, and John Grykko.

LACROSSE

The 1960 La Crosse team, coached by Dick Garber and captained by Billy Maxwell, was one of the finest, if not the best, to ever represent the University. They boasted a 7-4 record for the season.

They lost the Northeast Championship by five goals, falling behind the powerful M.I.T. squad and final division winners in the second half, 14-12. Other losses, likewise by narrow margins, were to Holy Cross, 9-7, and Amherst, 8-7.

Two outstanding members on the squad, Billy Maxwell and Dick Hoss, were rewarded for their fine performances. Billy Maxwell, attack, was awarded Honorable Mention All-American, First Team selector in the Northeast division, was chosen for the All N.E. Team, and was the first University of Mass. representative to ever play in the North-South game held in Florida. Dick Hoss was the highest scoring midfielder in the country, broke the University record of 27 goals scored in one season by tallying 37, and was awarded Honorable Mention All-American.

The seniors who sparked the team were Dick Glorioso, Dick Riley, Dave Cheever, Dick Williams, and John Brooks. The returning players include co-captains, Jerry Cullen and Dick Hoss, John Bamberry, John Burgess Walt Glinski, Armand Caviello, and Mike Cretion.

BASEBALL

The 1960 version of the Redmen nine finished third in the Yankee Conference, behind first place Maine and Connecticut.

Although they started off on the wrong foot, the Redmen closed out the season, ranked as one of the best college teams in New England.

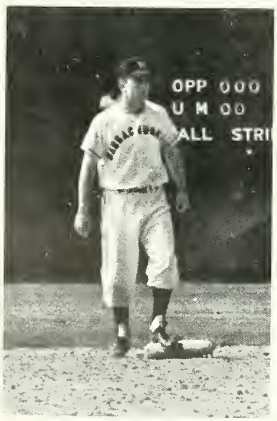

The Redmen won their first two games at the expense of the Coast Guard Academy and across town rival Amherst. Then the roof just about fell in. After losing a heart-breaker to Rhode Island, the Lorden crew went on to lose six of their next eight games, and could account for only one win in YanCon competition.

The team reorganized and downed New Hampshire, Boston University and Rhode Island, in succession, before losing another tight one, this time to A.I.C. The team closed out the season by beating Connecticut, New Hampshire again, and Springfield.

Coach Earl Lorden lost some good potential last year due to graduation. These included pitchers Gerry Glynn and Bob Catalini; catchers Armand Sabourin, team captain, and Ted Kelly; infielder Bobby Hatch and versatile Bob Eichorn.

Eichorn and Glynn were selected to the All Yankee Conference team. Glynn later signed with the Milwaukee Braves.

The team's hopes for 1961 are good. Returning will be Eddie Connolly who led the '60 team with a .417 batting average, Captain Paul Foley, Paul Wennik and Carl Elmstrom.

Up and over

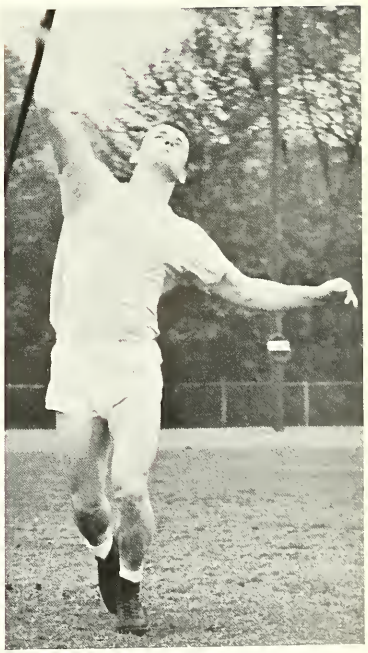

Spring Track

This year's spring track team had rough sledding throughout the season. The Footrickmen registered just one win against four losses, lack of depth and experience seriously hindering the Redmen in track and field events.

The team had four outstanding seniors, including captain Jim Keelon, who ran the quarter and half mile; Roger Kindred, who threw the hammer and shot put and holds the Cage record for the hammer throw; Jim Allen, who took care of the pole vaulting assignments; and Everett Brinson, who also set the University record of 50.2 seconds for the quarter mile in a meet against Holy Cross. These four men were consistent winners for Coach Footrick, but the UMie's just could not seem to get that one-two combination necessary.

The remainder of the squad which consisted largely of sophomores had it's share of standouts. Charlie La Pierre, who did high jumping and the high hurdles, held the freshman high jump record of 6 feet, until Dick Ward broke it at 6 feet 1 inch. Another outstanding member was Joe La Marre, who ran the 880-yard event and held the freshman record for it, was elected by the team to captain the indoor track squad. Other consistent winners were Joe Cassidy, who did high jumping, Mike Salem, who ran low hurdles, Jim Reilly, who ran the dashes and did some high jumping, Bob Kirk, who ran the low hurdles, and Charlie Fohlin, who did a fine job throwing the javelin.

Although the season was not as successful as it might have been, Coach Footrick sees great potential in the freshman squad which should fill in the holes left by the graduating seniors and also provide the depth and balance that the team needs.

Hatfield, Pierre, Budney, Dyer, Dion, Cross (Capt.), Coach Gladchuk, Burke, Marshall, Schmoyer, Foley, Megliola.

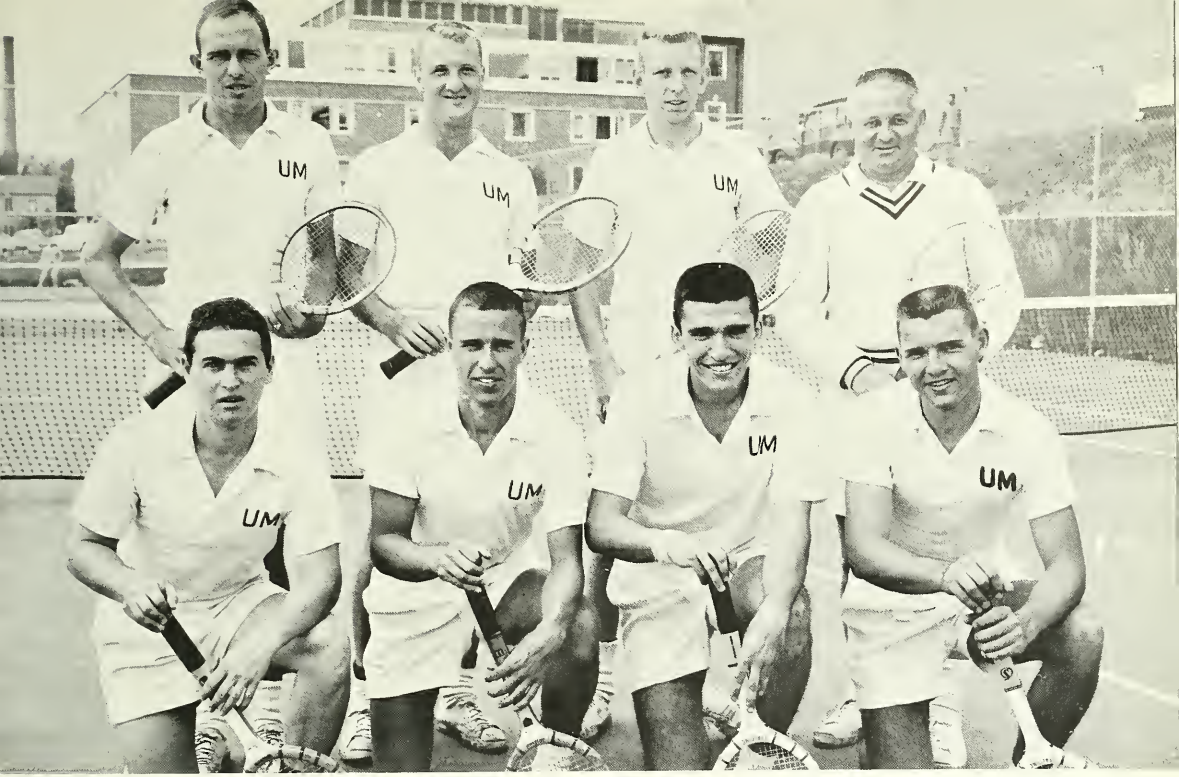

GOLF

The 1960 varsity golf team completed one of its most successful years in the University's history. Led by Captain Gary Cross the team compiled a record of ten wins as opposed to one loss. This record is even more impressive when it is noted that the Redmen averaged 5.6 points per match to only 1.3 points for their eleven opponents.

The team finished third in the Yankee Conference. After the New England Intercollegiate Golf Association tourney held at Portland, Maine, the team closed out the season rated as the fifth best collegiate golf team in New England.

The top seven members of the team each averaged under 80 strokes. Senior Brian Burke was low man with a 77.0 average. Cross was second with a 77.3. Both these boys will be lost to the 1961 team because of graduation. However, this year's team should also have a successful season. Returning lettermen will be Captain Mike Megliola, Hatfield and Schmoyer, Dion, Marshall and Pierre. Megliola, Hatfield and Schmoyer compiled 77.6, 77.1, and 77.4 averages respectively.

Coach Chet Gladchuk believes that with these six men as a nucleus, 1961 will see the Redmen providing strong competition in their bid to wrest the title from UNH, this year's defending champion.

TENNIS

The 1960 tennis team, under coach Kosalsowski, got off to a flying start and remained right on top throughout the season. It was an undefeated year for the Redmen with a total of seven wins and no losses. Court experience certainly proved to be a valuable asset as their outstanding record shows.

The Redmen started the season by clobbering the Coast Guard Academy 9-0. Next they squeezed by Rhode Island 5-4. The other matches were with Tufts, Connecticut, A.I.C., and Fairfield University, all of which they beat 5-4, 5-4, 7-2, and 6-3 respectively.

Coach Steve's singles men who won twenty-nine out of forty-two matches were Poritz, Barrows, Thompson, Thomas, Carlson, and captain Dave Crotty. The doubles teams were Poritz and Thomas, Wood and Greenman, and Howarth, and Thompson. These men went out and brought home seventeen out of a possible twenty-one victories.

Not only did the Redmen turn in an undefeated season for coach Kosalsowski, they swept the Yankee Conference match held at Durham, N. H.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council was established to promote better co-operation and communication between fraternities. The three main bodies created to facilitate achievement of these aims are the Fraternity Presidents Assembly, the Council of Committees and the Judiciary.

The Fraternity Presidents Assembly consists of fraternity presidents, the five officers (executive committee), and a faculty advisor. This assembly establishes and maintains policies for the entire fraternity system. It has overall control of the IFC and the fraternity system in general.

The Council of Committees consists of two representatives from each fraternity (a sophomore and a junior). It is presided over by the administrative vice-president, aided by the secretary and IFC advisor. It is the responsibility of the members of the council to head all committees involved in joint fraternity activities.

The Judiciary is composed of six fraternity presidents, the executive vice-president who acts as chief justice, and the secretary of IFC. The main function of the Judiciary is to assist the IFC in enforcement of its Constitution and by-laws.

I. F. C.

To accomplish its goal of better co-operation and communication between fraternities, I.F.C. has extended its functions into almost all phases of fraternity life. It has formulated rules and procedures for the rushing and pledging of new fraternity members and serves as a regulator of fraternity affairs.

To stimulate friendly competition the I.F.C. annually runs a year long multifarious contest which requires participation and achievement in the scholastic, athletic and social aspects of campus life. Thus, eligible fraternities must support the intramural sports, skits, sing and theme parties among other numerous activities which culminate in the annual greek week. During this week house inter-relations reach a peak as I.F.C. organizes the highly competitive chariot races and collaborates with Pan-Hel in sponsoring the mass exchange supper. At this time the Greeks also culminate their social calendar by running their Greek Ball and bringing some celebrity of the entertainment world to campus.

I.F.C. also sponsors fraternity participation in several charitable organizations including campus chest, heart drive and blood drive.

It would seem that I.F.C. has become an integral part of campus life.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Panhellenic Council's purpose is to promote understanding and cooperation and to provide an opportunity for an exchange of ideas among the sororities in all aspects of campus life. Its membership consists of two representatives from each of the eight sororities on campus.

Throughout the year many social, philanthropic, and educational events are sponsored by Panhellenic. Among some of our established traditions are: the Mum Sale at the Homecoming football game, Intersorority Sing and Dramatization Competition, Freshman Tea at which time the Panhellenic Handbooks are distributed to all freshman, and, of course, Formal Freshman Rush. This year a very successful Balloon Sale was sponsored jointly by Panhel and I.F.C. during Homecoming weekend, the proceeds from which were used to purchase reference books for Goodell Library.

Always striving for improvement and new ideas, Panhel annually holds a workshop in the spring of the year at which time many worthwhile ideas and suggestions are discussed and recommended for the following year.

ALPHA EPSILON PI

In December, 1933, Phi Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi was founded on the University of Massachusetts campus. Since that time, the brothers of AEPi have compiled an enviable record on campus.

Socially, the brothers held a Christmas Party for underprivileged children, enjoyed many exchange suppers, and held their annual pledge formal and picnic in the spring. In the sports field, AEPi did well also, losing only one football game in IFC competition, and beating their rival, TEP in the annual "Nose Bowl."

This year, AEPi was proud to welcome a "terrific" new housemother, Mrs. Harriet Tully, and a new cook, Grace Pauch. Also, the brothers are busy with renovation plans and have hopes that they will be living in a new house within the next five years.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO

Mu chapter, established on campus in 1917, is one of thirty-six active chapters of Alpha Gamma Rho throughout the country. At present there are seventy members of Mu chapter, most of whom have taken part in and given leadership to many campus activities. Such organizations include the Interfraternity Council, Men's Judiciary, Student Senate, The Collegian, various Student Union committees and student clubs. The Alpha Gam's are also active in varsity sports, lacrosse, soccer, swimming, track, gymnastics, golf, and wrestling.

Although active in extra-curricular activities, the AGR's have always maintained a high scholastic standing, having one of the highest cumulative averages among the fraternities on campus.

Of major importance to the Alpha Gam's this year has been the planning and construction of a new brick addition to the chapter house. It is every brother's hope that the addition will be completed by next September.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI

Gamma chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi, the oldest national fraternity at the University of Massachusetts, was founded in 1845. The original charter was transferred from Amherst College to the University in 1913. During the war years the chapter went inactive, but in 1955 Gamma returned to UMass. Over the past six years Alpha Sig has been slowly climbing in its membership and prestige. Its membership has tripled in the past three years to a total of seventy-one now affiliated with the house. An interesting aspect of the "Old Gal" is that every year the University gives the Alpha Sigma Phi scholarship to any needy person in the University. This fund was set up by the brothers of Gamma in the pre-war years.

Alpha Sig has become more prominent in campus activities. Although our skunk didn't win a prize in the float parade, it certainly got the point across. The IFC theme party competition has always found Alpha Sig in the top three. The social program of the house reaches its climax in the spring with the traditional Black and White house formal.

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma Fraternity was founded at the University of Virginia in 1869. The Gamma Delta chapter of Kappa Sigma was established on this campus in 1904. Gamma Delta is one of the one-hundred and thirty-five Kappa Sig chapters throughout the United States and Canada. At present there are seventy members in the University of Mass. chapter, forty of which live in the house. The first chapter house was on North Pleasant Street near Dalton's Diner. In 1939 the present building was financed, designed, and built by Kappa Sigs, actives and alumnae. It is one of the few fraternity houses on this campus designed specifically for fraternity living.

The interests of the brothers are wide and diversified; an indication of this is the number of different major courses pursued. Also, the Kappa Sigs are active members of many campus honorary societies, clubs, organizations, committees, and all of the athletic teams. Always somewhere near the top in IFC competition, Kappa Sig finished third in all-around competition and second scholastically, last year.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Club Lambda, Home of Champions, has been hustling with activity ever since its doors were thrown open last September. The brothers outdid themselves in every field. They were in competition right down to the end in intramural football, basketball and bowling. The club put on some top exchange suppers, and the parties were the talk of the whole campus. Included among them were the Pope's John party, which will best be remembered by some as a day of infamy, the Wild One party staged the first weekend of the second semester and the Shipboard party which won the Club some IFC points.

But the Club's parties were not only for the delight of the brothers. Christmas time saw the brothers entertaining some one hundred boys and girls. Of note is the great service the boys from the Amber Room rendered in making this party such a huge success.

The club itself underwent some changes for the benefit of the brothers and their guests. First of all a hi-fi and color TV were acquired through campus cigarette contests; then new furniture was bought for the commons room and a marquis was added to the Club's second floor. In all, 1960-61 was a most successful year for both Club Lambda and her members.

NU ZETA CHAPTER 1953

PHI MU DELTA

The Nu Zeta chapter of Phi Mu Delta fraternity, founded locally as Zeta Zeta Zeta and becoming a chapter of Phi Mu Delta nationally in 1953, is a group of men striving to keep their fraternity from becoming stereotyped, a house comprised of men of many and varied interests. It is a brotherhood where the true meaning of fraternity can be realized and appreciated.

This year Phi Mu Delta's football team, although not having a winning season, by typing some of the more powerful teams in the IFC league, set the stage for the upset of the long standing champions of years past. In addition to handling itself creditably in other fields of competition, Phi Mu placed second in the campus-entertaining IFC skits.

Socially, the black and orange has shown itself to be a true social fraternity with a party every week-end. Highlights of the social season were the Homecoming week-end, the annual Spring Formal held in honor of the new pledges, and of course our yearly Pago-Pago party.

The doors of Phi Mu Delta are always open, without exception, to all. Feel free to visit the home of true fraternalism.

PHI SIGMA DELTA

Our chapter of Phi Sigma Delta is the newest fraternity at the University—so new, in fact, that one of our charter members is still with us. Our house itself was acquired only in 1959, and our kitchen was installed in 1960. Among our greatest assets we include our housemother, Mrs. Margaret Sangree, who has just returned from a leave of absence in France, and our marvelous cook, Mrs. Mary Szawlowski, who we claim with great pride and sincerity to be one of the best in the area.

We are an active house, even though our membership has only recently passed the thirty mark, and for this reason we usually find ourselves at the short end in inter-fraternity sports. As a growing, non-sectarian house—throwing parties, having exchange suppers, producing skits, building snow sculptures, and getting smeared at football—we have progressed undaunted and are looking forward to a lasting place of importance and respect at the University.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

Alpha chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity was founded in 1873 in the old North College building with all the traditions of campus leaders prevalent then, as now, among the brotherhood. Forty years later the Phi Sigs built their present house at the edge of the campus, the ivy-covered structure now occupying its key position near the center of campus activities.

The diversified membership of Phi Sig includes brothers holding positions in the major sports and athletic clubs of the University. The appearance of brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa in several academic honor societies brings out another important characteristic of the house, which is necessary in any student organization. Coincident with these activities, the men of Phi Sig enjoy one of the most complete social calendars on campus each year.

The founding fathers of Phi Sigma Kappa, back at the Massachusetts Agricultural School, would no doubt be proud of the Phi Sigma Kappas as they participate in so many of the functions of this dynamic University in its ever-improving fraternity system.

Q.T.V.

Q.T.V. is proud of the fact that it is the oldest house on campus having been founded on May 12, 1869; two years after what was then Massachusetts Agricultural College opened its doors. It is also proud of the fact that despite growing pressures to go national, it has chosen to remain the only Latin local fraternity in the United States.

The brothers of Q.T.V. have made their presence felt by filling worthy positions in many campus activities. In I.F.C. competition, Q.T.V. opened the year in the winning spirit by taking first place in both the Homecoming float parade and in the skit competition.

Q.T.V. is very happy with its new housemother also, Miss Constance Garvey. She has become a friend of every brother and an integral part of the fraternity.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Another year has flown by on Sunset Avenue, and it has been a very successful and enjoyable one for the purple and gold. First place in the IFC scholarship competition was achieved for the spring semester; thus getting the house off on the right foot. On the sports scene, Sigma Alpha Epsilon was honored by the election of four brothers to captaincy of a varsity sport. In addition to this, eighteen members were instrumental in bringing the Yankee Conference co-championship to Amherst. At the same time, the house team succeeded in capturing the intramural championship, only to lose a hotly contested battle to Phi Mu Delta of the University of New Hampshire.

The social season was studded with parties and exchange suppers and climaxed with the annual pledge formal and initiation banquet. The house was blessed by the addition of Mrs. Helen Helbling to its family. Matriculating East after sixteen years of resident hostess experience with sororities in Ohio, she adjusted to the boys very quickly, and all hope that she will be a permanent fixture for many years to come.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

This year, as in the past, Sigma Phi Epsilon brought another first to the campus. Yes, even in these bleak, dry, prohibition years, at least one fraternity had reason to rejoice. The scholastic year of 1960-61 ushered into being Sig Ep's long awaited dream, a new chapter house!

As it stands now, the modern L-shaped, two story structure represents the hard work and contributions of the many alumni and actives who wear the heart and the skull.

But Sig Ep's new house is not the only progress that has been made this year. Off to a fast start at the beginning of the year, we copped second prize in the float parade, second in the intramural football competition, and third in the IFC sing. We are also looking forward to participating in the other many events leading to the coveted IFC cup.

Traditionally, Sigma Phi Epsilon has carried on its ideals and goals in the fashion that creates better understanding between townspeople, faculty, and the administration; we look forward to many more happy and productive years at the University of Massachusetts.

TAU EPSILON PHI

This year Tau Pi Chapter made positive progress toward the acquisition of a new chapter house. This progress exemplifies the spirit which the brothers have shown both in the house and on campus. The traditional theme parties and pledge formal were the highlight of the social season. Once again TEP took its share of the I.F.C. trophies, which included a first place in the Sing and Bowling. In addition, Teppers were well represented in most areas of extra-curricular activities, particularly in Campus Varieties in which eight brothers participated. This year as in the past, "Teppers" have continually endeavored to uphold the tradition that is TEP.

In 1952, thirteen freshmen and one sophomore formed Delta Sigma Chi fraternity in order to provide an organization which would augment fellowship and that of all future members regardless of race, creed, or color. By 1956, DSC had grown to such stature that it was installed as Epsilon Delta Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon. TKE, the largest international, and fourth largest national social fraternity, places great emphasis upon diversification of interests and talents within the brotherhood. ED chapter, through participation in all campus activities and endeavors, has truly exemplified this spirit and has lived up to the TKE motto, "Not for Wealth, Rank, or Honor, but for Personal Worth and Character." This year, the brothers are pleased not only with the results of campus competitions but also with the prospects of a new chapter house which will be acquired with the help of the Alumni and the TKE Board of Control.

THETA CHI

Theta Chi Fraternity is in its 105th year, being founded at Norwich University in 1856. Theta Chapter at the University of Massachusetts, formerly a local chapter of Theta Phi, was initiated into the national in 1911. The chapter, in step with the growing pace of the University, moved into its new and larger home at 496 No. Pleasant St. in 1935. Since that time we have always been a leader in campus affairs as exemplified by the past year. We were represented in nearly every phase of athletics from football to gymnastics as well as having membership in most major extra-curricular activities, much of it being in leadership capacity. We have three Junior and Senior class officers besides having a sizable Adelphia and Maroon Key membership. Our possession of the trophy given for over-all IFC competition is another good indication of our versatility.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The Alpha Chi's have this year reaped many gratifying results from their hard work and spirited participation in campus activities. These included winning places in the float parade, dramatization and W.A.A. competition. However, our greatest thrill came with the realization of a goal in the form of a national charter. The sisters of Gamma Chi were demoted to pledges on December 12, 1960 but were soon elevated again on February 18, 1961—this time as Alpha Chi Omega sisters. The entire week-end of February 17, 18, 19 was a memorable one, not only because of initiation, but also because it was the second anniversary of Gamma Chi's founding.

Because Alpha Chi is so new on this campus, its history may be unfamiliar to many. Alpha Chi Omega is an original member of the National Pan-Hellenic Council and was founded in 1885 at DePauw University in Indiana. Delta Mu marks the 93rd chapter located on campuses throughout the country.

The sisters of Alpha Chi Omega are grateful for the help and encouragement extended to them by the entire campus in their two years as members of the Greek World.

CHI OMEGA

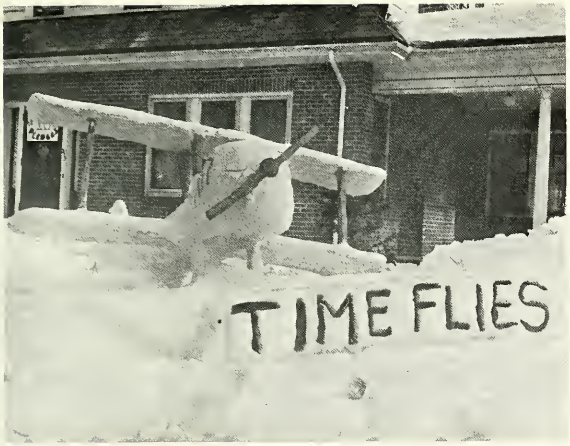

Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Arkansas, in 1895. The local chapter, Iota Beta, was founded here on campus in 1941.

Chi O's are very happy to have with them this year Mrs. Katherine Young as their new housemother, and also Mrs. Jane Nash as their new cook. Listening to Denny recount her experiences from National Convention, held at the Greenbriar Hotel in West Virginia, readied the house for an active and fun-filled year. Among their many activities are included teas, exchange suppers, float parade, sing and dramatization, athletic competitions, etc. Chi O's also had the pleasure of entertaining faculty guests, one of whom was Dr. Field, Director of Guidance. As usual, Pledge Formal was a huge success, being held this year at the Wycoff Country Club in Holyoke.

All in all, Chi O's found the year '60-'61 to be both pleasurable and profitable.

Who says a pledge doesn't lead a slave's life?!

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

September saw the return of the "devilish-eyed" Thetas with tales of their summer's activities—bits of Maine, New Hampshire, the Cape, California, Florida, Mexico and Europe were made part of "Thetaland." Marcia told of her trip to California for National Convention, while Sue and Priscilla told us about the California they saw.

Before long, we settled down to the routine campus life of studies (to retain the Scholarship Trophy), sports (to keep both the W.A.A. trophies), exchange suppers and just plain fun, sitting around the house listening to the new stereo we won, playing pitch, and singing along with Dug's uke.

The slave auction was, as usual, a huge success, right Mary Lou? Our third-prize float made Homecoming even more enjoyable and who can forget the Pi Christmas Party? With the end of the semester drawing near, Nancy reaped the rewards of her hard work by sweeping the dramatization contest.

Second semester began with much excitement: rushing. The Gamma Etas had a busy Carni week-end welcoming our seventeen new pledges and congratulating Bette, the carni queen. Before long, Mrs. Hamilton was riding out the storm of composite-raiding pledges—and then the pledge formal at Wiggins. What a week-end! Soon it was spring vacation and then before we knew it commencement and summer plans for Europe, the usual resorts and, for many of the seniors, matrimony.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

September, 1960 found the Kappas looking forward to another successful and fun-filled year. The sisters were anxious to take advantage of the wide opportunity for scholastic and extra-curricula achievement; and thus, became active in unlimited campus organizations.

Socially, the wearers of the key have had a very successful season—including exchange suppers with various fraternities and a Christmas party with Theta Chi. Throughout the fall season the sisters worked hard preparing for participation in the annual Pan-Hel sing and declamation and the homecoming float parade. Winter found the girls at 314 Lincoln Street taking time out of their busy schedule to rush and pledge a group of top freshman who were later presented at their annual Pledge formal in the Spring.

PHI DELTA NU

Alpha Chapter of Phi Delta Nu was founded as a local sorority in the fall of 1950 on the basis of specific ideals: friendship, democracy and non-discrimination. Now, ten years later, with goals firmly established, the sisters have been in contact with local sororities all over the country who have similar ideals—and consequently, are now planning a convention with delegates of these various chapters in hopes of forming a new national sorority.

In October, Phi Delta Nu served as hostess for the annual Pan-Hellenic Tea. In November, a birthday party was held to which the presidents of the other sororities were invited to participate in a ceremony commemorating the girls from their respective houses who founded Phi Delta Nu ten years ago. Another honor of this year was the winning of third place in the Inter-Sorority sing. In the spring, our new pledges were honored by a banquet and formal held in the Parisian Room of the Schine Inn.

With ideals set and goals established, the sisters of Phi Delta Nu look with confidence towards the future.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi, the first national fraternity for women, was founded at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, on April 28, 1867. It is proud to boast the largest membership of any national sorority. On campus, Massachusetts Beta Chapter was founded in 1944 and currently has 66 members.

The social season of 1960-61 has been an active one including exchange suppers, open houses, and teas. It was highlighted by a visit from Mrs. William Tufts, Pi Fi's National Director of membership—and culminated in the annual pledge formal, this year held in the Coach Light Room of the Northampton Inn.

The girls are fortunate in having as their housemother Mrs. Arthur Mahoney, who is very enthusiastic and interested in all campus events. We are looking forward to sharing many more active years with her.

SIGMA DELTA TAU

The school year 1960-61, Sigma Delta Tau's 16th year on campus, proved that despite adversities the SDT's can still come out smiling!

One week before school started, a fire broke out on the newly decorated top floors of the chapter house. Thus, many SDT's had to pack themselves into dorms, doubling and tripling up in rooms. Some very generous faculty also helped to put up some of the temporarily "homeless waifs." However, not even fire hoses could dampen their spirit. Float parade saw them marching and during Greek week they sang and dramatized.

Soon Thanksgiving came and with it a brand new house complete with sliding door closets upstairs and wall to wall carpeting downstairs. With a roof over their heads now, the SDT's put new vigor in their many campus activities.

Thus, the SDT's will long remember this year on campus as eventful, active, and productive; one that proved that Sigma Delta Tau has the spirit true sorority girls are made of.

SIGMA KAPPA

Sigma Kappa began a highly successful year by returning to a completely redecorated living room and kitchen. The pretty living room made a fine background for the trophies and plaques which we soon acquired. We took first place in the Homecoming float parade, the Inter-sorority sing, and the Winter Carnival Snow Sculpture competition. The living room was graced with a new color television set due to our winning another competition.

The usual activities of exchange suppers, pledge formal, and dinner guests were carried on, and a successful freshman rush was climaxed by the Sigma Kappa Carnival theme party.

Albert P. Madeira A.B., Bowdoin College, M.A., University of New Hampshire.
Mr. Madeira, who serves as advisor to the Index, came to UMass in 1951. He was formerly an English teacher at Smith College. At UMass, he teaches English, technical writing and playwriting. Mr. Madeira also teaches English part time at Holyoke Junior College. This is his third year as Index advisor.

How is a yearbook made? A yearbook is made of thousands of ideas laid out on hundreds of pages of paper by tens of people to form one memento of all your college years. It takes typists, writers, photographers, researchers, organizers and many editors to prepare material for the printers final touches. From October to the last deadline in March, students push pencils and minds for the Index.

YAHOO

The Ya-Hoo, a creation of Jonathan Swift, was originally a creature of nasty habits and little regard for the members of the human race. In fact, the Ya-Hoos that Gulliver encountered rather sullied his clothing, if not his soul, from their arboreal perches. The Ya-Hoo of today, however, has somewhat better manners, and a much improved aim. No longer does the Ya-Hoo vilify all and sundry, nor does the Ya-Hoo practice life in the trees. The Ya-Hoo now attacks only those deserving of it, and from a much greater height.

MORTAR BOARD

Let's get organized!

Each spring, five to twenty-five junior girls are tapped at Honors Convocation as members of Mortar Board. They are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service. The purpose of Mortar Board is to maintain high scholastic standards, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to develop a finer college woman. To fulfill their purposes, they sponsor a yearly Fine Arts Festival, a tea for Dean's List students, and Freshmen Talks. Mortar Board also assists Adelphia with their dances, and they publish "Co-Ediquette," a book for Freshmen women.

Now, in its eleventh year of broadcasting as the Student operated FM station, WMUA is constantly striving to provide better listening to the campus community, and better training for those students interested in Radio and TV as a profession. The station now has an operating power of ten Watts on FM and broadcasts throughout the dormitories by AM carrier current. Featured on its programming schedule are United Press News, classical, jazz, folk, and popular music, remote broadcasts from the "Hatch," and the majority of the Redman football and basketball games. A large amount of the broadcast schedule is occupied by lectures and other educational material. WMUA welcomes and invites any interested people to drop into seven room suite of studios in the Engineering Building and look into the possibilities of membership in an educational and enjoyable operation.

The entire student body is considered to be a part of the Concert Association through the payment of a student tax. Any interested student may join the policy-forming Executive Board.

The Association serves the musical needs of the University and interested members of area communities by bringing to the campus professional artists in the field of serious music. Highly popular this year were the appearances of Mantovani, Rise Stevens and the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra. The New Danish Quartet, the duet of Eugene List, piano, and Carroll Glenn, violin, and the young French songwriters Varel and Bailly with the Chanson de Paris completed the Series. For the first time this season, receptions for the performing groups were held and proved to be a popular way for students to meet these talented people personally.

OPERETTA GUILD

The Operetta Guild this year produced an original musical play, Thunder in the Hill, which was written by two University of Mass. alumni, Robert Boland and Russell Falvey. The play was presented in October which is a new date for the Guild. The Operetta Guild under the direction of Doric Alviani began producing Broadway Musicals in 1947. During this time the Guild has produced several college premieres including Rodgers and Hammerstein's South Pacific and Carousel. This year the Guild introduced the new musical writing team of Boland and Falvey.

In the spring of 1960, the initial plan and principles constituting the club were drawn up by Parker Shanahan '60. On August 18, 1960, the organization became incorporated. With the help of a loan from the Student Senate, the club has acquired an Aeronca Champ 7AC; the aircraft is hangared at the La Fleur Airport in Northampton.

The Club tries to promote an interest and awareness in the use and maintenance of aircraft for the pleasure, recreation and use of the members.

STATESMEN

. . ."He may ride forever . . ."

The Statesmen, a singing group composed of undergraduate male students, has been an outstanding part of the campus since 1939. Their repertoire ranges from spirituals to calypso melodies. This year, under the direction of Francis Lovejoy, the Statesmen have made many appearances both on and off campus. Besides entertaining at the Sophomore Banquet, they appeared at the lighting of the Christmas tree in New York City and on Channel 22 in Springfield.

OUTING CLUB

The main function of the Outing Club is to promote the interests of the students in trips planned for the out-of-doors. The trips usually last a full day and are planned according to season. The fall sees mountain-climbing, spelunking, bike-hikes, and cook-out trips. The winter is devoted to skiing, skating, and an annual Mt. Washington trip at mid-semester. In the spring, canoeing, hiking, bike trips and spelunking take place. Square dances are held with other colleges throughout the year. Anyone may attend these trips, member or not.

ADMINISTRATION

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

University of Massachusetts

Amherst

In the short time that I have been on campus, I have come to share your affection for the University. I am proud to be here as President, to work with students and faculty in promoting the University's dynamic growth.

I assure you that the University, though expanding rapidly, will continue to emphasize quality and a deep concern for the individual student. These must always have highest priority in our plans, our policies, our programs. As an institution, we will have the good opinion of the public we serve only if we succeed in building men and women of intellectual strength and substance.

As you very well know, we cannot do our work well unless students are willing to do their work well. Certainly all of you recognize that in reality no university educates its students. Students must educate themselves. The institution can only furnish an intellectual atmosphere and environment where persons with good minds--faculty members and students--undertake to establish profitable communication. The result of this process can be education, but only if the student has himself actively absorbed, thought over, and synthesized the facts and ideas broached by his instructors.

Assuredly I hope that all in this graduating class have undergone just such a process. And certainly I hope that you will continue it. Education in this sense is an ongoing thing, and you will serve society and yourself with greatest effectiveness if you consider your bachelor's degree as a license, not to escape further intellectual responsibilities, but to take on greater ones. In the complexities of the modern world, there can be no evasion of the life of the mind.

I wish you all well and look forward to your activities as energetic and successful alumni.

JOHN A VOLPE
GOVERNOR

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON

February 9, 1961

TO THE STUDENTS OF THE

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS:

I wish to extend my personal greetings, and those of the Commonwealth, to the University of Maseechusette.

In future years the Univereity Annual, the Index, will be not only a reminder of your personal history, but an indication that you as students were a part of a strong and constantly developing institution.

You will find that as your knowledge increases through study, the index of its growth will often be the ideas and stimulating experiences of your university life.

Sincerely,

Governor

JAV:jf

The fifteenth president of the University of Massachusetts, John W. Lederle and family, Mrs. Lederle, Pamela and Thomas.

President John Lederle

John William Lederle, fifteenth President of the University of Massachusetts, began service in September of 1960. He was born at Royal Oak, Michigan, the son of E. J. Lederle, Michigan educator who served for a quarter of a century as Superintendent of Schools for Oakland County, Michigan. His uncle is Arthur F. Lederle, Judge of U. S. District Court, Eastern District County, Michigan.

Dr. Lederle took his Bachelor's, Master's, Doctor of Law's and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Lederle is the former Angie Pamela King, daughter of the late Judson King, M.D., Baptist Medical Missionary to the Belgian Congo. The Lederles have two children, Pamela Jean and Thomas Paine, age twenty and fifteen years.

In addition to having held several important posts in both education and administration at Brown University and the University of Michigan, Dr. Lederle was a practicing attorney, a public administrator, and served as legislative consultant to the United States Senate and House of Representatives on various occasions. In the field of public administration, he organized and was the first direcctor of the Institute of Public Administration at the University of the Philippines, from 1952 to 1953. The establishment was made under a Point IV technical assistance contract granted by the U. S. Economic Cooperation Administration. The Institute served as the central training unit for public administration personnel throughout the Philippines. Other posts held by Dr. Lederle have been Controller of the State of Michigan and Head of the Michigan Department of Administration, Chairman of the Michigan Commission on Interstate Cooperation, Secretary of the Michigan State Administrative Board, and Secretary to the Governor's Committee on Intergovernmental Relations.

Our President has taken an active part in the several professional societies to which he belongs in the fields of Political Science, Public Administration, and Law. He has also an extensive bibliography to his credit, covering the subjects of state government and education, politics, the legislative process, campaign expenditures, and Canadian government and politics.

We are honored by the leadership of a man with the experience and capabilities possessed by Dr. John Lederle.

Dr. Shannon McCune with daughters Shannon and Antoinette, Mrs. McCune, and son George.

Dr. Shannon McCune, provost of the University of Massachusetts, has been appointed Director of the Department of Education in the Secretariat of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization). Greatly expanded UNESCO educational activities in tropical Africa as well as programs in Latin America, the Middle East and other areas are under Dr. McCune's administration. Dr. McCune has been a member of the United States National Commission for UNESCO for the last three years, serving on the Education Committee and on a panel dealing with UNESCO's Third Major Project —The Mutual Appreciation of Eastern and Western Cultural Values. Having been born in Korea and carried on research and teaching in Asia and America for many years, he has been especially interested in these aspects of UNESCO's programs.

Dr. McCune's interest in education comes to him naturally. His grandfather, John A. McAfee, was a founder and first president of Park College in Parkville, Missouri; his father, George Shannon McCune, was president of Huron College, Huron, South Dakota and of the Union Christian College of Pyongyang, Korea. His cousin, Mildred Helen McAfee Horton, is well-known as president of Wellesley College.

Dr. McCune has been educated in the United States and Korea, taking his degrees at the College of Wooster, Syracuse University (graduate geography work), and Clark University from which he received his Ph. D. as well as an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. He is a member of several academic honor societies.

He has taught at posts at Ohio University and Colgate Universities, as well as serving as visiting professor to Harvard, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Chicago, Miami in Ohio, Minnesota, Washington, McGill, and Tokyo University.

He has served the U. S. Government abroad in various administrative and research capacities, especially during World War II, for which he was awarded in 1946 a Presidential decoration, the Medal of Freedom, as a result of his work in China.

Since 1955, Dr. McCune has served as Provost of the University, and has been responsible for the academic and student personnel program. He has also had an interest in the broader problems of education in the United States, as well as in Asian studies programs. He has served as chairman of the Committee for a New College, a program widely influential in educational circles.

Dr. McCune has written the book Korea's Heritage: A Regional and Social Geography, as well as over 100 articles and monographs in his field of interest. He has instituted a book collection for Asian Students, and represented the University of Massachusetts at the dedication of the William S. Clark Student Center at Hokkaido University.

The wisdom and affability of Dr. McCune will be missed as he takes on his challenging work with UNESCO.

TREASURER

Kenneth A. Johnson, Treasurer of the University, has been named to the Executive Committee of the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers.

Mr. Johnson has been treasurer of the University since January, 1952. Before assuming that post, he was assistant to the provost at Champlain College of the State University of New York. Earlier he had served as Acting Dean of the Faculty at Sampson College, a unit of the Associated College of Upper New York.

In addition to administrative posts, Mr. Johnson has taught college courses in business and industrial management.

John Gillespie is the Assistant to President Lederle as well as Secretary of the University of Massachussetts. He also held the posts of Director of the Bureau of Government Research, Acting University Editor, and Lecturer in Public Administration here at the University. He previously worked as teacher and administrator with the University of Texas and East Central (Oklahoma) State College.

His significant activity in the field of city and state government has provided the basis for the writing of three books, Government in Metropolitan Austin, 1956, Public Employees and Social Security, 1955, and Outline of American Government, 1953, in addition to several articles on related subjects.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Fully accredited, the School of Business Administration at present has 600 undergraduate and graduate majors in its resident program and an additional 60 off campus. Massachusetts business concerns can thus look to the University facility as a prime source of personnel for the boom years ahead.

Established 1948, the school was headed first by Dr. Philip L. Gamble, presently head of the University's department of economics.

Dr. Gamble, as Acting Dean, was succeeded by Dean Milo Kimball in 1952. It was during Dean Kimball's administration that the Board of Trustees approved a graduate program which led to awarding of the first master of Business Administration degrees.

In 1957, Dean Kimball resigned and was succeeded by Dr. H. B. Kirshen. A former head of the department of business, economics, and sociology at the University of Maine, Dr. Kirshen had also served as an economic consultant with the Wage Stabilization Board, and had been a member of the Maine State Board of Labor Mediation.

Reorganization of the school has provided a growing list of activities for the school. Among these activities are the annual retailing conference conducted by the school for Massachusetts businessmen, and international programs in which 15 European business managers take a six-weeks course in junior executive training under sponsorship of the Experiment in International Living.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

Mr. Leonard H. Ehrlich instructs class in Philosophy.

This year the School of Arts and Sciences has gained added strength and attention due to the new facilities provided in Bartlett Hall and the new Justin Morril Science Center. Bartlett Hall is equipped with Language laboratories, a speech therapy center, modern psychology laboratories, and excellent seminar rooms. Work is still being continued on the Morrill Science Center, as the third section is presently undergoing construction.

A recent innovation in our science program was the purchase of a large electron microscope.

The Art Department has been given a decided boost as a result of its expanded program and new facilities. The students now have access to a solid offering in an area important to their cultural development. The Head of this program is Mr. Paul Norton.

In the past year more than 225 articles and eight book length texts were written by the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences, dealing with subjects such as the Humanities, Social Sciences and the Sciences.

Dean Marston, School of Engineering.

ENGINEERING

A new Engineering Shop and Laboratory Building is under construction northwest of Gunness. Plans and specifications are being completed for a major addition to the Main Engineering Building.

All five of our Engineering Curricula, namely, Chemical, Civil, Electrical, Mechanical, and the Industrial option, were reaccredited in October for the maximum period of five years by the Engineers Council for Professional Development. A major research contract with the Bureau of Ships of the Navy on "Effects of Nuclear Blasts on Ship Structures" is underway in the Civil Engineering Department with Dr. M. P. White and Prof. F. J. Dzialo, project directors.

In 1960, the average starting salary of our Engineering graduates was $523 per month. This year it looks as though it would be about four percent higher. About 200 companies and organizations are recruiting on campus for engineers this year.

The Engineering Building

Warren P. McGuirk, Head of Department of Physical Education; Ph.B., Boston College; Ed.M., Boston U.

The major program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in physical education is designed to train the student for a career as a teacher of physical education. The curriculum combines both general and professional education and provides for full teacher certification for the student who has met the prescribed requirements of preparation. The program also provides for adequate training in a minor area of teaching, elected by the student, including the coaching of inter-school athletics.

MEN'S PHYSICAL

Curry Hicks Physical Education Building for Men.

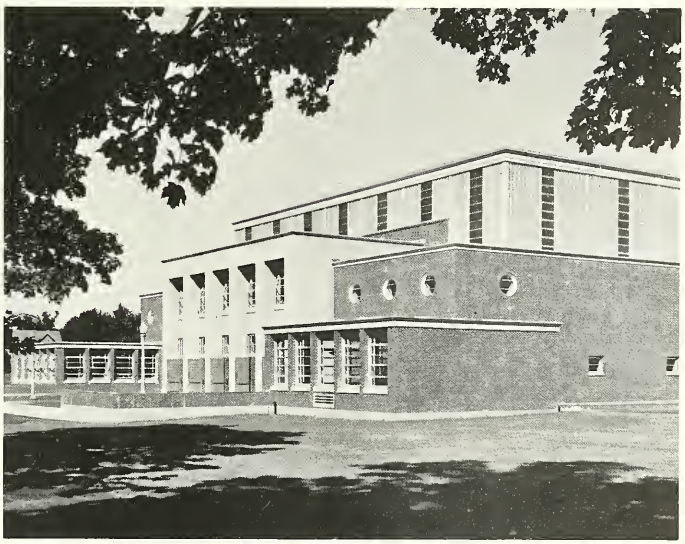

The major course in physical education is planned to prepare women students for professional careers. Special attention is given to preparing teachers for elementary and secondary schools in both physical and health education. Other areas for which the graduate will qualify are teaching sports and dance in social agencies, industrial plants, civic centers, and camps. A foundation will be laid for specialization in graduate study.

The curriculum gives a broad general background as well as the professional preparation. There is opportunity for individual selection in order to provide a minor.

EDUCATION

The School of Education plans to move into its new building in time for summer school. Included in the building will be the Marks Meadow School, an elementary school to open in September, 1961 which will be used for observation and research by the education majors.

The department also plans to provide a remedial reading clinic and a guidance testing clinic in its new facilities.

Closed circuit television will also be used to observe work in the laboratory school and in the teaching of classes.

Students may study for degrees in the field of elementary or secondary school teaching.

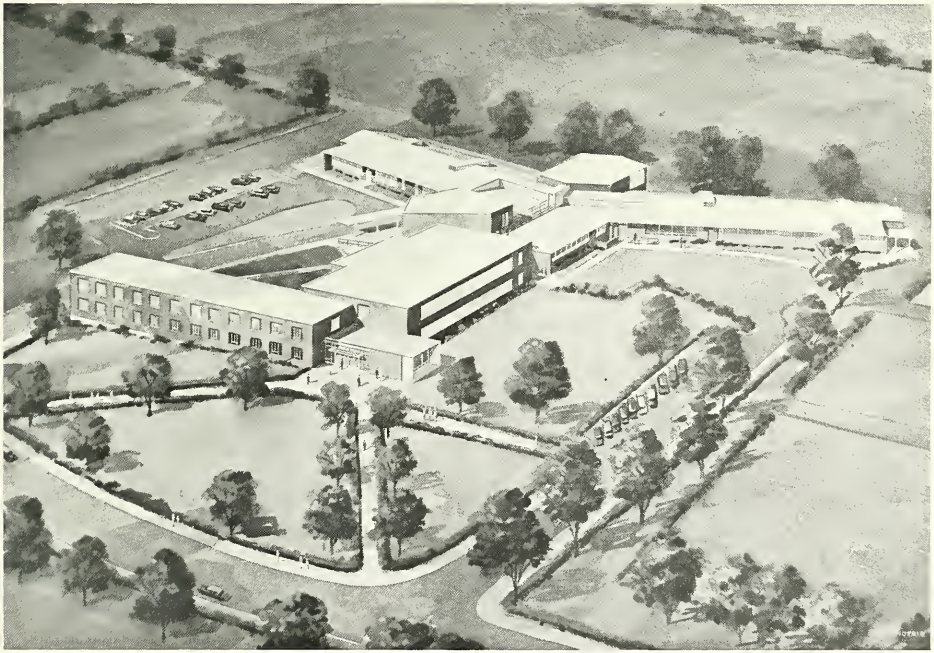

Marilyn Brutnell teaches second grade reading in practice teaching assignment.

Armand Caraviello instructs high school biology class as practice teacher.

Acting Dean O. Merriam; B.S., U. Of Vermont; M.S. UMass.

The School of Home Economics offers a four year integrated program in home economics preparing women for careers as dietitians in hospitals, clinics, hotels, and other institutions. Study in the field leads to a B.S. degree. The Home Economics graduate may also qualify as a teacher in her field.

An affiliation with the Eliot Pearson School of Tufts University and the Merrill Palmer School in Detroit enables students to spend their senior year in either school.

HOME ECONOMICS

Skinner Hall, School of Home Economics

Recently, the School of Nursing was nationally accredited by the National League for Nursing Education. The School of Nursing has been constantly growing. At present there are over 100 students enrolled. A four year program has been instituted with the class of 1961.

Since the establishment of the School, its students have been very active in student nursing organizations. The School has annually participated in the National Association of Student Nurses.

The faculty is an active one, holding offices in many nursing organizations. Dean Maher is president of the Massachusetts League for Nursing. Miss MacDonald is currently doing research and organizational work for the state legislature.

Graduates from the nursing program are eligible for the licensing examinations for registration in any state.

STOCKBRIDGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

The Stockbridge School has gained recognition in the field of agriculture.

A recent innovation in the School of Agriculture will begin with the class of '61 as the Board of Trustees of the University has authorized the granting of Associate Degrees for Stockbridge graduates.

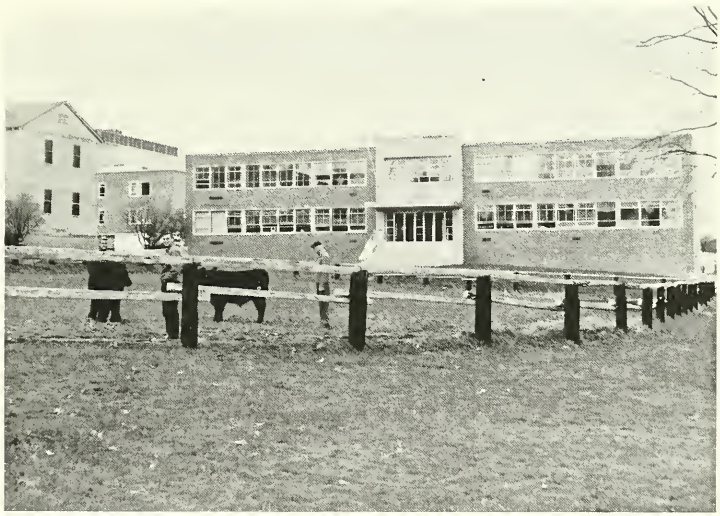

Twelve programs of study are offered, all of which are concentrated technical courses aimed directly toward preparation for a definite field of work.

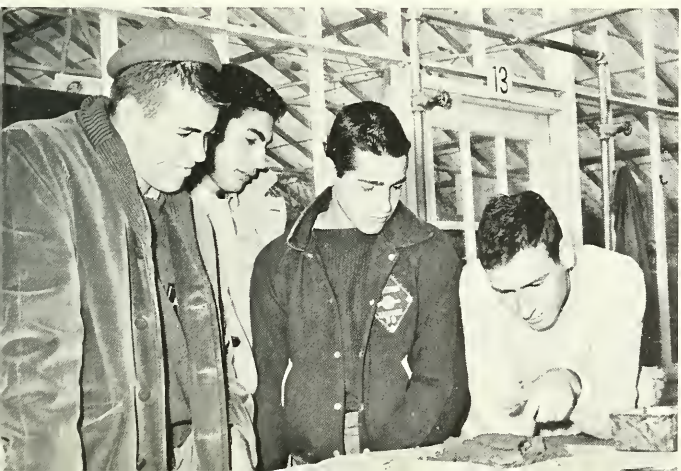

The faculty is composed of University professors instructing classroom teaching, laboratory exercises and practical work. The work of the classroom is supplemented by demonstration work at various places such as the barns, dairy plant, and green houses. The courses are planned to offer fundamental information and to establish the underlying reasons as well as the special methods employed in the various operations.

ARMY

RESERVE OFFICERS

The Army Reserve Training Corps is the means by which young men may assure themselves that their military service is performed in commissioned status.

The first two years provide basic training in leadership, and citizenship. The student is informed on the position of the military in the current scene and as it relates to the future.

The second two years of R.O.T.C. are not only elective, but selective as well. The best qualified volunteers are permitted to contract to continue on to a reserve commission. There is a six-week summer training period between junior and senior years.

Participation in R.O.T.C. has notable effect on character development. It also discloses to the Army existing officer material and potential leaders.

TRAINING CORPS

Next September, a revised curriculum awaits Basic and Advanced Air Force R.O.T.C. cadets at the University.

The New Program eliminates Air Science classroom work during the first semester of freshman year and during the second semester of sophomore year, and substitutes University courses in the social and natural science, math, and the humanities.

In addition to completing the required classroom work, the Basic Air Science student attends a Leadership Laboratory for one hour a week during the first two years.

Completion of four University courses —Extemporaneous Speech, Social Psychology, International Relations and World Political Georgraphy—are required on the Advanced student during his junior and senior years.

BILL STARKWEATHER

"Starkie, what do you think of this . . . ?" How many times have we, in the class of 1961, approached our class advisor, William Starkweather, with this question? Bill, a 1951 graduate of UMass, has been a behind-the-scenes force in all we have attempted to accomplish: as freshmen when planning Frosh-Soph Night, as sophomores when organizing Sophomore Banquet and Soph-Senior Hop, as Juniors when trying to present the best Winter Carnival ever, and as seniors when laying the ground work for Senior Mixes, Senior Week and Graduation. His carefully considered guidance and suggestions have given so many of our plans the "shot-in-the-arm" that they needed. In essence, then, he has been our "idea-man." What a familiar sight for the class officers and executive committee to see Bill sit quietly pondering, chin on fist.

But, Bill is not the type to merely offer verbal aid; he has through these four years played an active, participating role in our activities by taking on his share of the work and more.

The capabilities that Bill has shown as class advisor were developed while a student at the University in such extra-curricular activities as Adelphia, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and Operetta Guild. Bill, has continued to serve the University in his position as Assistant Registrar. He has become, as he calls himself, "a professional advisor" for the Interfraternity Council, Handbook and Mugbook. Further service as Chairman of the Board of the Fraternity Managers' Association has made him invaluable to the campus community..

Although it seems an inadequate reward for all the service, advice, ideas and leadership Bill has given us, we'd like to say, "Thanks for a job well done."

idea man . . . the Keller yearbook representative

ROSWELL FARNHAM

To the casual reader a yearbook is often simply an "album" of pictures with accompanying identifications and enough written text to fill up the remaining holes on the pages. Merely ink on paper . . . though nice to own and enjoy.

But to the staff and the adviser the yearbook means much more. For yearbook work comprises a multitude of details: Layout, Art, Photography, Copy, Typography, Covers and Binding (not to mention the small detail of money-raising). Highly technical and often confusing, these details are at the very least time-consuming and a source of anxiety to a staff unless the publisher's representative is company-trained to give needed help and suggestions.

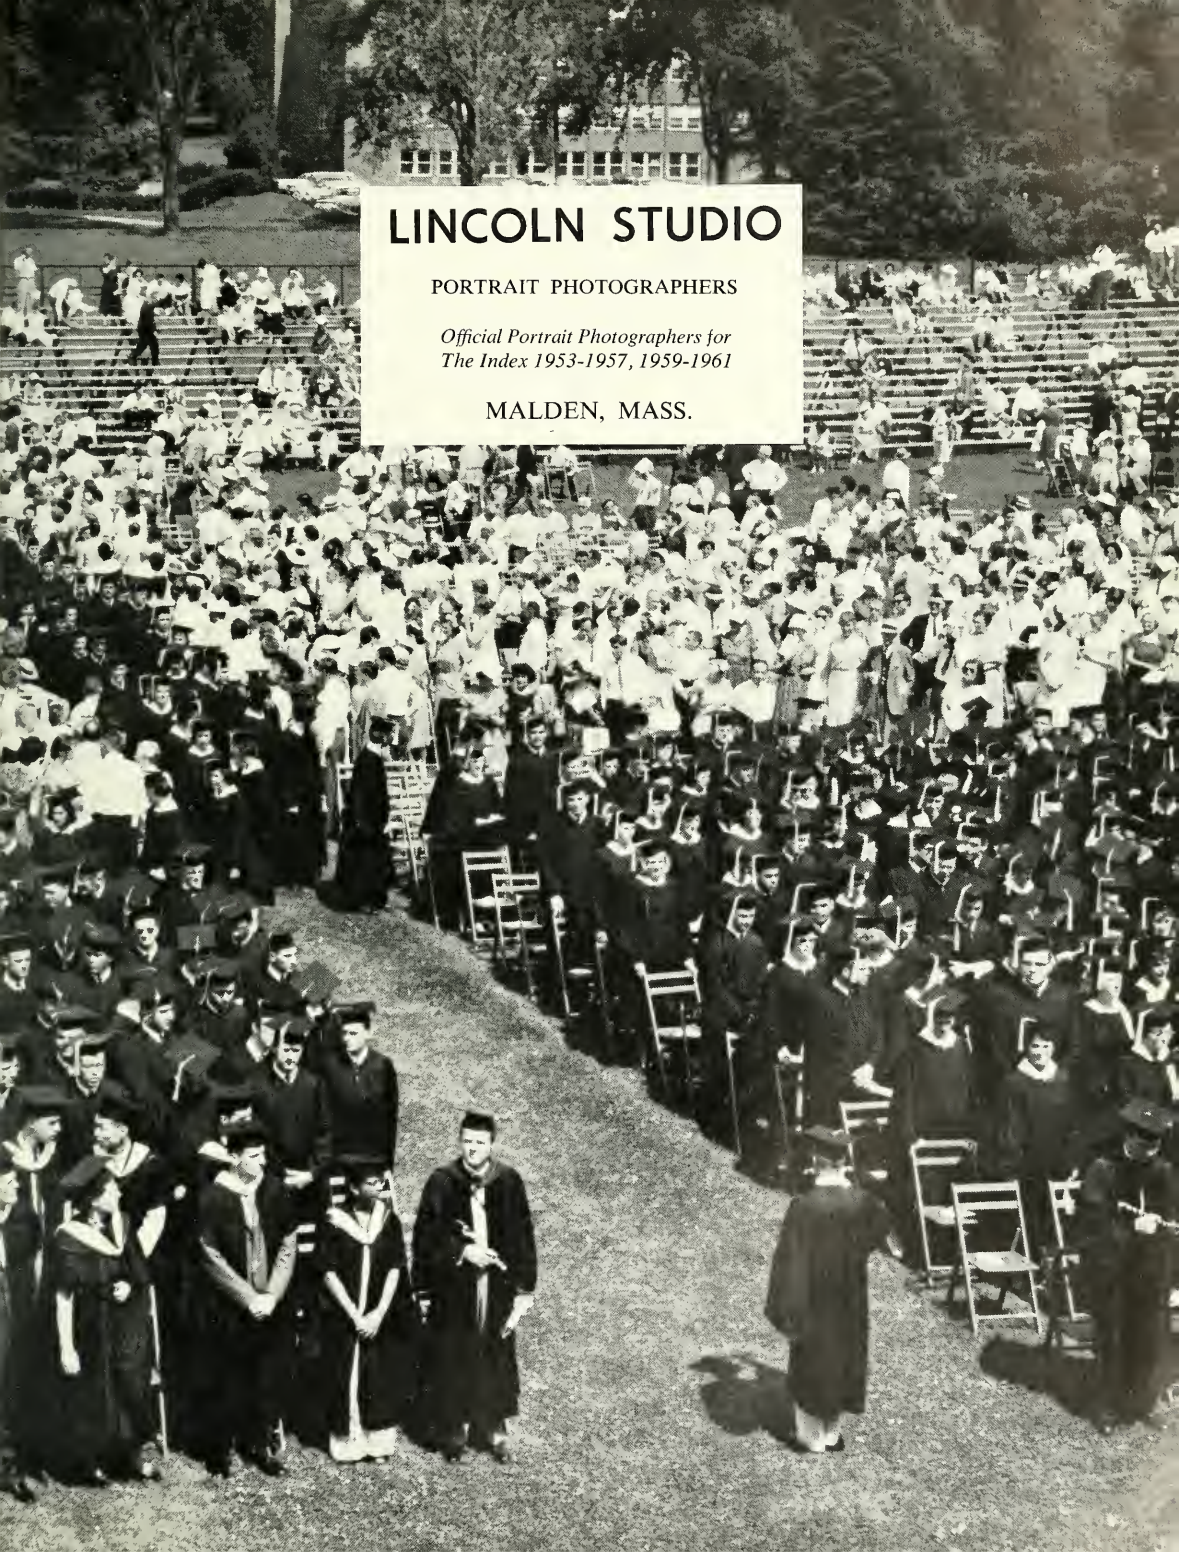

All representatives for Wm. J. Keller Inc. are skilled in the many facets of yearbook work, having at their finger-tips the answers to yearbook problems as well as a multitude of ideas for new graphic arts special effects, to enable the staff to produce a yearbook that is different and attractive. Your Keller salesman is more than a technical adviser, he is a "clearing-house" of yearbook ideas.

INDEX

The University of Massachusetts Annual

This yearbook attempts to be an edition not of, by, and for the students alone, but rather an edition highlighting the year 1960-61 at the University, socially, culturally, and academically.

Many changes have been instituted in this Index that may represent a break in tradition, but as this is a growing university striving to better itself, so must its yearbook change and try to raise its standard. You may miss the student directory traditionally found at the end of your Index, but the increased enrollment has made that section prohibitive. The faculty directory is also missing, partially for the same reason, but mostly because the schools of the University should be given pictorial recognition.

By these eliminations we were able to expand the senior section and make it more interesting, and also to add to the Mass. Life section. Among other things we broke away from the scrapbook effect in the Mass. Life section and added typography to tell the story portrayed in the pictures. Ten years from now, if your memory fails you, the thoughts you are trying to grasp will be at your finger tips.

The Index has passed out of the realm of the senior directory - it has become truly a yearbook.

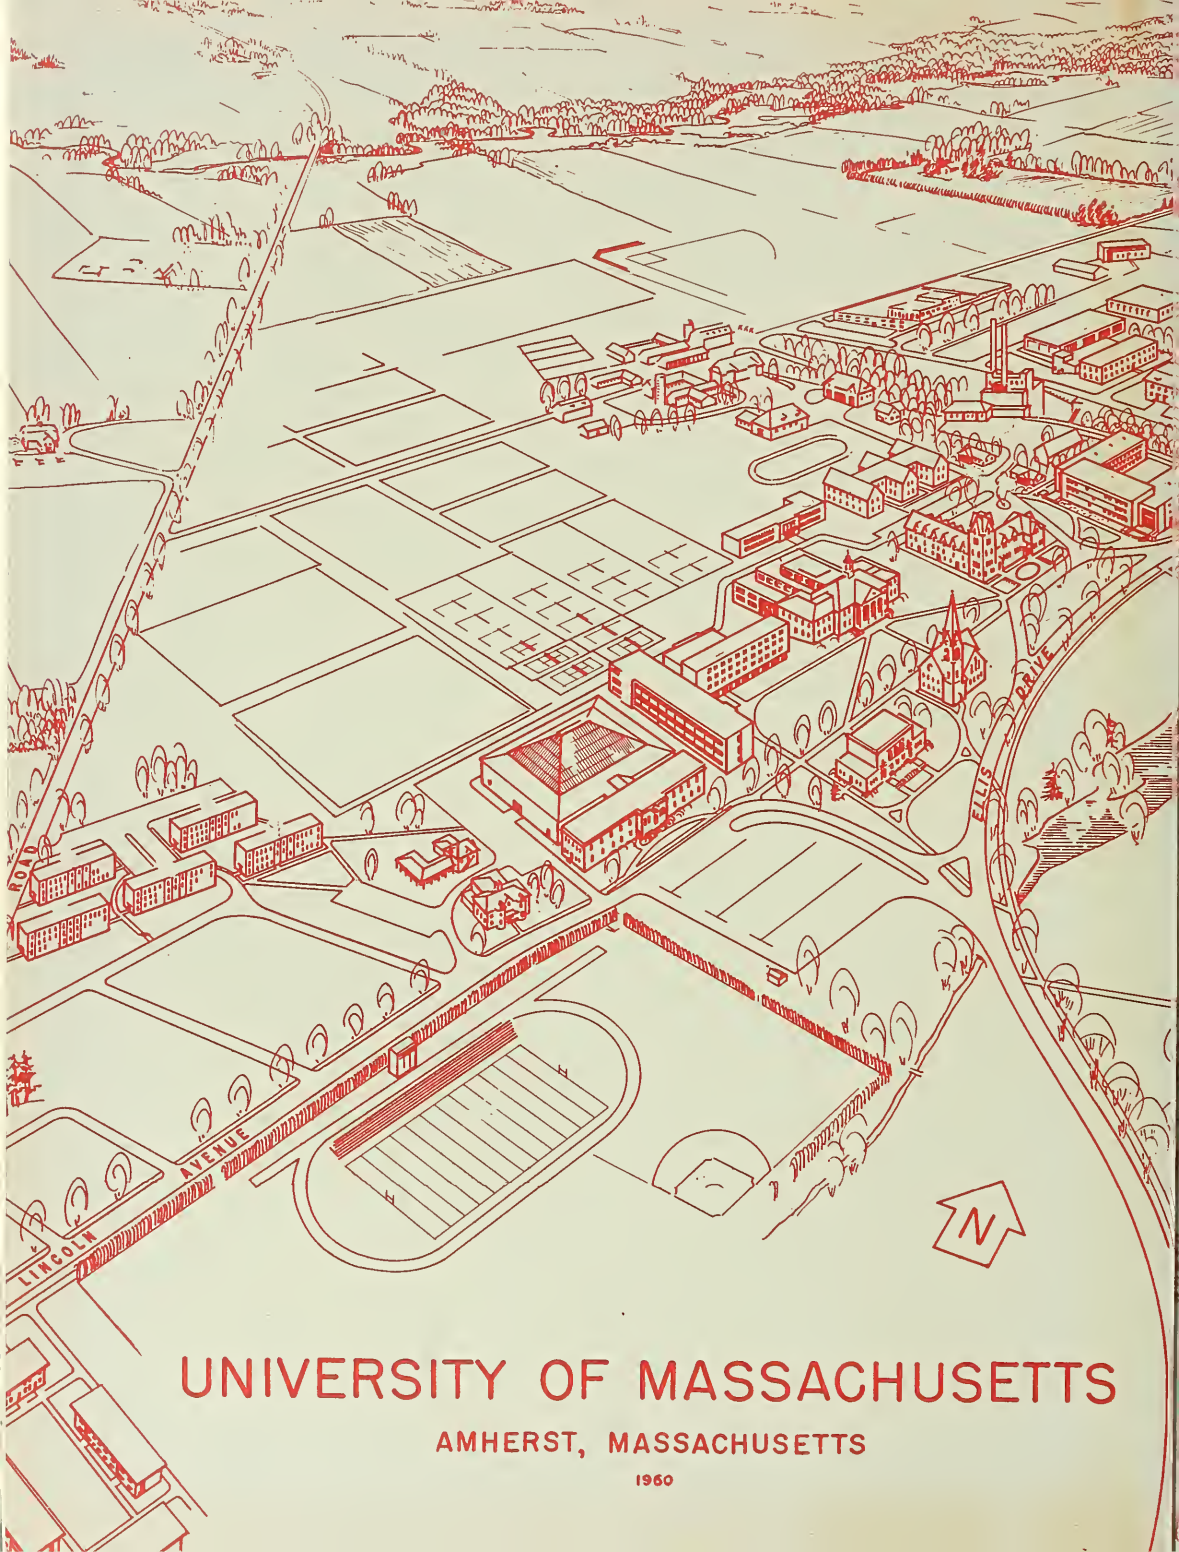

We are especially proud of our color this year, all of which was taken by Donald Witkoski, Photography Editor. Other acknowledgments I would like to make are to Mr. Albert Madeira, our advisor, Bill Deminoff and his staff of the University News Office, Mr. Buck, our financial advisor, Ros Farnham of Wm. J. Keller Publishers, and Mike and Guy of Lincoln Studios. Their support and aid to our staff over the year has done much to make this book possible. I would also like to express my appreciation to the members of the staff and many others not on the staff who devoted so much of their time to this year's Index.

We hope our efforts are appreciated.

Sincerely,

Hugh B. Calkin
